Miss Georgia Wins Pageant; Miss Barker Among Top Ten

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 6 (AP)—Nineteen-year-old music student Neva Jane Langley of Macon, Ga., won the Miss America contest tonight.

The dark - haired, green - eyed Southern belle was the only double winner in preliminary rounds of the five-day national beauty pageant. She scored in both bathing suit and talent tests.

Miss Louisiana, Barbara Frances Barker, of Monroe, was among the top ten finalists who will share $16,000 in scholarships.

The new Miss America will receive a $5,000 scholarship, $4,000 in cash, gifts including an automobile and a chance to pick up thousands of dollars in personal appearance fees.

The new Miss America is 5-feet 6¼, weighs 118 pounds. She has a 35-inch bust, 23-inch waist and 35-inch hips.

A student at Wesleyan Conservatory of Music in Macon, Ga., she received the Miss America crown from last year's titleholder, Colleen Kay Hutchins, former Miss Utah.

The Georgia beauty with shoulder-length hair was cheered by the crowd of 15,000 in huge Convention Hall as she stood clad in a white gown with flaring skirts to receive applause.

"I'm very humble and thank you very much," she said as she accepted the award.

Miss Langley will receive a $5,000 scholarship, $4,000 in cash, a number of gifts, including an automobile and a chance to earn thousands of dollars in personal appearance fees.

Fifty-two beauties from this country, its territories and Canada had vied for the title in the five-day contest.

The runners-up, in order of their selection, and the scholarship money they will receive are:

Miss Indiana, Ann Marie Garnier of Indianapolis, $3,000.

Miss California, Jeanne Shores of Azusa, $2,500.

Miss Alabama, Gwen Harmon of Birmingham, $2,000.

Miss Chicago, Jo Hoppe, $1,500.

The remaining five finalists receiving $1,000 each were:

Miss Hawaii, Beverly Kathleen Rivera of Honolulu.

Miss Louisiana, Barbara Frances Barker of Monroe.

Miss New York City, Joan Elizabeth Kayne.

Miss Greater Philadelphia, Patricia Mary Hunt of Norristown.

Miss South Carolina, Mary Kemp Griffin of Florence.

Although Miss Langley's hometown is Lakeland, Fla., she got to carry Georgia's banner here by entering the state contest from Wesleyan Conservatory in Macon, where she is studying music.

She played a piano selection, "Toccata" by Aram Khatachaturion, to get the judges' nod in a preliminary talent division Thursday night.

The very next night, the trim beauty paraded her figure in a one-strap white swim suit to win again and virtually assure her victory in the contest, which is based on beauty, talent and personality.

Coon, Huckaby Promise Probe Of Water Rates

Mayor John E. Coon and Commissioner Wayne Huckaby last night promised the people of Monroe that the "matter of increased water rates will be gone into thoroughly" by the city council next week.

Considerable protest has arisen among Monroe water users that a recent increase in rates brought their water bill too high. Several reported their bills four times higher than that of previous months.

Mayor Coon said he had been unable to contact Commissioner Frank X. Cline.

The text of the Coon - Huckaby statement is as follows:

"With reference to the complaints being registered against the recent increase in water rates in the city of Monroe, Commissioner Huckaby and I (Coon) wish to make the following joint statement, having been unable at this hour to contact Commissioner Cline in order that he might join us in this statement.

"We wish to assure the citizens of the city of Monroe that the matter of increased water rates will be gone into thoroughly by the city council at the beginning of next week and we wish to assure everyone that whatever is needed to be done to adjust the water rates to a satisfactory level will be done."

The statement was signed by Coon and Huckaby.

Kennon Bolts National Demo Party, Comes Out For Eisenhower

GOV.'S MOVE AIDS STEVENSON, SAYS EARL LONG

Ex-La. Leader Says Demo Nominee 'Needed Shot In The Arm'

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 6 (AP)—Former Gov. Earl Long, political foe of Gov. Robert Kennon, noted Kennon's announced backing of Dwight Eisenhower today and said:

"Eisenhower is a fine man and very popular in this state, but Kennon's support for him will sure help Gov. Adlai Stevenson."

Long said the Democratic presidential nominee "needed a shot in the arm in Louisiana and this is it. Every election Kennon has been hooked up with since his election as governor he has lost."

Long, whose handpicked choice for governor was overwhelmingly defeated by Kennon last spring, has announced his support of Stevenson.

The Democratic nominee, Long said, has had the experience in government that counts, while "Ike would be only a cat-in-the-bag experiment."

Former Gov. Sam Jones of Lake Charles, asked for his reaction, replied:

"I'd rather not make any statement now. I will make my position known later."

Times Poll Shows Eisenhower Is Far Ahead Of Stevenson

Percentage About Same As That In News-Star —World Poll

SHREVEPORT, Sept. 6.—Results of a presidential poll conducted by the Shreveport Times, show that of the 13,403 votes cast, Republican nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower received 85 per cent and Democratic nominee Adlai E. Stevenson fifteen per cent.

The actual vote was 11,503 for Eisenhower and 1,900 for Stevenson.

A similar but smaller poll conducted by the Monroe World and the Monroe News-Star, under the same ownership as the Times, showed an eighty - five to eighty-eight percentage for Eisenhower in northeast Louisiana.

The Times poll drew it's 13,403 votes from 37 Louisiana parishes, with the heaviest returns from northwest Louisiana, and from counties of central east Texas and southwest Arkansas. A sizeable vote came, however, from the eighth congressional district in central Louisiana and the northern section of the seventh congressional district in southwest Louisiana.

The east Texas vote ran 85 per cent for Eisenhower — the same as Louisiana.

The poll was by ballots printed daily which readers had to clip, fill out and mail. There was no personal or street polling.

The Eisenhower percentage was virtually uniform throughout. Whether the returns came from the smallest crossroads villages or from Texas, Arkansas or Louisiana or from the larger cities the Republican nominee polled 80 to 90 per cent.

In its own editorial interpretation of the poll the Times will say tomorrow that it does not believe the returns mean Eisenhower would get 85 per cent of the vote in an actual election in the poll area if held today because "persons militantly aroused against Trumanism and the Washington administration are more likely to want to let everyone know how they feel than those content to vote for a party label without reading it or for the caricature of a barnyard fowl

Says Ike Best Hope For State, Nation

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (AP)—Louisiana Gov. Robert Kennon bolted national Democratic ranks today with the announcement he would vote for GOP nominee Dwight Eisenhower.

"I believe that Gen. Eisenhower and the Republican platform represent the best available hope for the United States and Louisiana," he said.

The governor of this deep south, traditionally Democratic state scored Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee for embracing:

1. "The Truman-Humphrey federal compulsory FEPC."

2. "The Truman anti-states rights position on the tidelands."

3 "Truman's plan to limit debate in the U. S. Senate."

Kennon, foe of "Trumanism" for months, declared Eisenhower "appears to me to have the courage and desire to end the Truman era of mink coats, deep freezes, payoffs and rackets in the federal government."

Political weathervanes, he said, pointed to an Eisenhower victory in Louisiana. "On Nov. 4, the Good Lord willing, I will go to my polling place and cast my ballot for Dwight Eisenhower."

Kennon won a landslide victory in the spring gubernatorial contest, when he overturned the political power of former Gov. Earl Long. Since then, Long has announced support for Stevenson.

In New Orleans, commenting on the Kennon announcement, Republican National Committeeman John Minor Wisdom said:

"It is indeed gratifying to learn of Gov. Kennon's endorsement of Dwight Eisenhower's candidacy and his repudiation of the corruption, inefficiency and creeping socialism which Stevenson inherited from the Truman administration and which both Stevenson and Sparkman have embraced fully and enthusiastically."

Wisdom said "As Republicans, we welcome the support of Gov.

NEW CHURCH IS NOW OPERATING

Southside Methodists To Have Formal Church Dedication Today

A little more than a year ago the need for a place of worship on the south side of Monroe in the area east of the Missouri Pacific Railroad was realized by the First Methodist Church. Property for this purpose in the 1600 block of South Fourth Street was purchased. At the Methodist conference which was held in June of this year Rev. Lea Joyner was placed in charge of the Monroe Missions and the organization of a church in this community was one of her charges. A survey of the residents of the area surrounding this church revealed the immediate need for a convenient place to worship. Plans were formulated and on July 13th, 1952 a meeting was held at the Missouri Pacific Booster Hall at which time the officers of the church were selected.

On Monday night, July 14th, the first meeting of the board of stewards was held which was the beginning of a series of meetings of various committees that continued through the next two weeks. During this period plans for a church building had been drawn and studied, the property purchased by the First Methodist Church had been deeded to this new church, which had already been named the South Side Methodist Church, and plans were made for the ground breaking ceremony. This ceremony was held on July 27th, 1952, with Rev. W. H. Giles and Rev. M. D. Felder assisting Rev. Joyner.

On August 4th, 1952 the building of this new church was begun. During this short period of time many things had been accomplished which seemed impossible at the start. It was necessary to raise funds to finance this project and all those who had the time to make calls on their friends did so and the response was unbelievable. The contract for the building was given to W. C. Salley and with his help plans for the building were revised to meet the approval of the building committee. To accomplish all this in so short a time called for inspiration and superhuman effort and this was furnished in the person of Rev. Joyner.

All departments of the church have been organized and are functioning. The Sunday School survey has been made and enrollment was held on Sunday August 31, 1952. Special opening services will be held Sept. 7. The W. S. C. S. have held regular meetings and have added to the building fund by their suppers and water melon party. The committee on evangelism has been active in calling on prospective members and a number of new members have been received into the church. To date 161 have joined fellowship. The results in this undertaking have been obtained by each member doing their part. This continued co-operation will give to this section of the city a church which will serve the spiritual need of all who attend.

Miss Lucia Carney, sister of the late Dr. Harold Carney, prominent physician here a few years ago and a highly active civic worker, who met an untimely death when killed by an Illinois Central train in West Monroe, when he was rushing to perform a civic duty, has written friends here telling of her retirement. Miss Carney was for 30 years an employe of the Portland (Maine) Savings Bank and was known and recognized state-wide. CHURCH CENSUS STARTS TODAY

An organized religious census count will get underway in West Monroe this afternoon when more than 25 churches conduct a house-to-house canvas.

Sponsored on a joint basis, the census report will give the religious affiliation of all residents in the greater West Monroe. It is a non - denominational undertaking.

Church leaders in West Monroe have been working for several weeks to organize the drive so that the church census data could be collected with as little bother to all concerned as possible. Starting sometime after noon today, the count is expected to be completed within four or five hours.

This will be the first time in history that all churches have combined forces to make a census survey in such a highly organized manner.

Charlie Chisholm, one of the leaders of the religious census campaign, said the city had been zoned off, and churches in each neighborhood assigned to cover their respective area.

This is the general information they seek: church affiliation, whether or not the interviewee is a member of any church, and his choice should he join.

BUIE BLASTS AT SPECIAL SESSION

Rep. James C. Buie of Franklin parish yesterday attacked Gov. Robert F. Kennon's proposed special legislature and asserted that he would oppose any issues advanced during the session.

The session would be called "to consider placing various board amendments in the constitution without trial period." (Boards include welfare, highways, conservation and institutions.)

Representative Buie said that Kennon should give serious thought before attempting to call a special session because of the increasing unfavorable sentiment that now exists among many members of the legislature. He said that legislators would oppose the session because of the total disregard of their wishes or oppinions relative to matters concerning their respective parishes.

British Experimenting To Reduce Size Of Airports

BELFAST Northern Ireland, Sept. 6 (AP)—Britain hopes to launch her airliners of the future from catapults and land them on their bellies on sheets of taut wire.

The British Association for the Advancement of Science was told today of experiments with this apparatus, designed to free civil aviation from the mounting cost of big airports.

The experiments are now going on at the Royal Aircraft Establishment in Farnborough, the British government's chief aviation research center.

Sir Ben Lockspeiser, one of the government's leading scientific advisers, told the association the apparatus already has been used successfully for fighter planes.

The ultimate aim is to extend it to jet liners.

Every time airliners get bigger and faster, Lockspeiser said, concrete runways have to be lengthened and further reinforced—and the point has been reached where airports are an 'expensive nuisance.''

"If aircraft are to become faster and heavier, the main economic problems in aeronautics are, in my view, less in the air than on the ground," he said.

For landing, the plane is flown level a few feet from the ground, caught on a hook by arrester gear and dropped on the taut sheet, which allows a good landing without a bounce

Lockspeiser said airliners using such a method would require some reinforcement of the fuselage, but this would be small in comparison with the weight of present undercarriage gear.

"Much experimental effort has been devoted to developing this idea and the fact that it is quite feasible is shown by the many successful landings of a Vampire (British fighter) by this method," he said.

The landing rigging was reported based on apparatus long used on aircraft carriers with "radical, indeed revolutionary, modifications.'

Oil Men Gamble Heavy At Big Odds

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 6 (AP)—Mississippi oil men gamble up to $200,000 at 16-to-1 odds in their search for oil

E. D. Kenna, executive vice-president of the Alabama-Mississippi division of Mid Continent Oil and Gas Association, said "sixteen to one is the ratio of dry holes to producing wells in all Mississippi drilling to date. For other oil producing states the ratio is only nine to one.

"Another factor facing the Mississippi driller is the great depth necessary to find oil,' Kenna said.

"Mississippi wells average over 7,000 feet while the national depth average is 3,800. Drillers in Mississippi spend up to $200,000 for a single well," he said.

Daddy And His Little Girl

The following points a valuable lesson. It is worth reading. . .and keeping. It is regretted that the author is unknown; otherwise he would be given credit.

Today my daughter, who is 7 years old, started to school as usual. She wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker spaniel, whose name is Coot, sat on the front porch and whined his cannine belief in the folly of education as she waved good-bye and started off to the hall of learning.

Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her, the girl with yellow curls, and the boy across the aisle who makes funny faces. She told me about her teacher, who has eyes in the back of her head, and the trees in the school yard, and about the big girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things - tremendously vital, unimportant things, and then we studied spelling, reading, arithmetic - and then to bed.

She's back there now - back in the nursery sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's her doll) cuddled in her right arm.

You guys wouldn't hurt her, would you? You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut or her head gets bumped, I can fix it - but when she starts to school, when she walks across the street, then she's in your hands.

She's a nice kid. She can run like a deer and dart about like a chipmunk. She likes to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoons. But I can't be with her all the time; I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So please help me look out for her. Please drive slowly past the schools and intersections - and please remember that children run from behind parked cars.

Please don't run over my little girl.

Much Talk, Little Study, Equal Failure

It's a commonplace of the stock market that big events are anticipated days and sometimes weeks in advance. Thus discounted ahead of time, the events usually produce little shock when they actually occur.

Lately some of the experts judging the national and world scene have been going pretty heavily into this business of anticipating things to come. With this difference: they haven't always been so successful in measuring the prospects, and consequently the actual events have often dealt something of a blow.

This being an election year, it is probably a painful time to remind the experts of the fiasco of 1948, when President Truman upset the carefully calculated thoughts of most veteran observers, and won re-election.

Since then a good many other events have been misjudged. The ranting Russians were figured to make a stir at the San Francisco Japanese peace treaty session last fall. They didn't. General Eisenhower's June return to this country was foreseen as almost certain to touch off a prairie fire. It didn't. Examples are legion.

Perhaps these discrepancies between forecast and event wouldn't arouse too much concern if the erring observers simply acknowledged mistakes and vowed they wouldn't happen again.

But some of the experts insist on blaming the participants in the events, instead of themselves, when things don't work out as they predicted. A few go so far as to distort the story of an actual event to fit what proves to be their own far-fetched anticipation of it.

So we get some pretty tortured versions of current history these days. Why?

Certainly it never was easy to foretell activities in the realm of practical affairs. There is no accurate barometer for human behavior. But over the decades some pretty sound guesses were made of what was to come.

Nowadays the confusion of affairs has vastly complicated the task of predicting. That very complexity is the prime excuse for error by the experts. They can cover only so much ground themselves, and thereafter are dependent upon the findings of others.

But the difficulties of digging for even that part of the facts which one man can fairly unearth have tended to discourage too many. A lot of them have therefore become little more than collectors of surface impressions, and rather jaded collectors at that. When they supplement these with the surface gleamings of others, they erect a shaky pyramid that can topple at the first breath of reality.

There is no cure for this condition but hard work. Because the world is harder to understand does not mean we can abandon the project. The manpower and the facilities for grappling with this task in America are unexampled.

Instead of talking events to death before they occur, our experts ought to spend their time scanning thoroughly the groundwork for those events—talking to all the people they can, reviewing past history where it has a bearing, getting and keeping the feel of the country where the events will be made. This sounds simple enough, but it's become a rather uncommon practice.

Less talk and more action on the observers' front wouldn't eliminate forecasting errors. But it might make the surprises less frequent.

Unlamented Passing

Representative Rankin, Mississippi Democrat who has served in the House of Representatives for 32 years, finally has succumbed to defeat. No ordinary adversary ever was able to beat him, and no extraordinary ones wanted to try.

But the 1950 census took a House seat away from Mississippi and forced a congressional redistricting that put Rankin and Representative Abernathy in direct competition this year. Rankin wasn't equal to that test.

It is unlikely that the American people will mourn his departure from the political scene as the regrettable loss of a statesman.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

PROFESSIONAL SHORTAGES

There are too few engineers. Appeals are being made to young people to study various forms of engineering at college. Our country cannot get along without civil, mechanical, electrical, electronic, etc., etc., engineers.

Why were we never short of engineers before? Obviously because we were not involved in global wars before. We were not making the world safe for democracy and such. The education of our sons was not interrupted by mobilization, conscription, the casualties and deaths from wars.

Besides, before we went into Democracy with all our recent fervor, it was generally recognized that a smart, hard-working boy was graced by the Almighty and that a dope was a dope and that there can be no equality of intellect between them. Possibly because there are more stupid than smart boys—and therefore more votes among them—our colleges, assisted by the G. I. Bill of Rights, filled themselves to the rafters with many who disliked to study but liked the leisure. Result: overcrowding, lowered standards, fewer engineers!

We are short of nurses. Go to any hospital and its management weeps for nurses. Of course, the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Veterans Administration take their first pick. Even so, if the hospitals could afford to pay their nurses as well as stenographers are paid for lighter work, that service might become more attractive. As it is, the hospitals have raised their standards, requiring increased training but not the pay sufficiently.

On the other hand, most of our best hospitals exist by voluntary contributions. As taxes and the cost of living go up, the amount that individuals donate to charity becomes an increasing burden upon the families of those who are accustomed to give. High taxes hurt free charity and although allowances are made for income tax deductions, the high cost of living leaves little over in one's pocket for good causes.

Hospitals have been aided by the various Blue Cross plans in the sense that more people pay their way and fewer go to free clinics. That, however, raises another problem which cannot be discussed here adequately, namely, that internes and young doctors have decreasing opportunities to practice in clinics and to learn while a senior doctor shows them what to do. This problem is now facing all the teaching hospitals of our country.

We have a shortage of teachers. This is, in part, due to the increase in population. During the next six years, the elementary school population will increase by about 1,200,000 pupils each year. There is a need for 160,000 qualified elementary-school teachers and 48,000 high school teachers. As a matter of fact, the teacher shortage is so severe that about 200,000 are now in service who have not yet completed their requirements for a Bachelor's degree at college.

Again the armed forces compete with a profession. Many who train to be teachers, on graduation go into the armed services and therefore are not available for our children. According to the "NEA Journal," 62,692 potential high school teachers should now be available to fill 48,000 high school positions. Actually there will not be that number because of other attractions.

Another problem that arises in the teaching profession is specialization. It used to be that an educated man could teach high school boys and girls the subjects they required to prepare for college. Today the high schools are not limited to preparatory courses; they also give large numbers of functional courses which call for specialists.

Also, the system of specialization forces a teacher to put himself into a category. He is not a broadly educated man, but a social scientist or a specialist in home economics and such intellectual tripe. If the school system recognized that a person fittedt o teach in a high school ought to be able to undertake three or four subjects, many of the difficulties which schools encounter would be solved, and fewer teachers would be out of work. The fact is that because of specialization, although there is an overall shortage, many specialists cannot find jobs. How much of a specialist does a high school teacher need to be? Or must it be the rule that a teacher of home economics knows nothing else?

The price we pay for war is not only in money costs or the lives of those maimed and killed. The price is also in a deterioration in the quality of the society affected by war.

The Broadway Lights

Stage Entrance: The sudden Looking of "Seagulls Over Sorrento" (to launch the 1952-53 showseason) doubled the premieres for September. The Grand Total is now Two. . . . "Mr. Pickwick," the other newcomer, comes to Broadway wearing medals from London critics. . . . One London observer, incidentally, cables that the West End hits booked for New York will be disappointments here. "Too talky for American tastes, except perhaps, two." . . . There was encouraging news for "The Virginian" from Abington, Virginia, suh. Variety's Dixiecrat reported it "has interesting possibilities for Broadway.' . . . The big news in Broadway's ghetto was the steenth return engagement for Joe Everlovin' Lewis at the Copacabana and next Tuesday's debut of Portugal's top star, Amalia, at La Vie En Rose . . . "Oklahoma," the goldmine, is still the theater's champ. Currently prospering at New Haven, its 5th visit to that burg. . . . The new season's Tiffany trimmings will be provided by several gilt-edge wordsmiths such as Tennessee Williams, Thornton Wilder, Moss Hart, John van Druten and Robert E. Sherwood. The latter generously offers two dramas. . . . Despite the groaning about lofty production costs and taxes, more shows are scheduled this season than last.

In the Wings: Jerry Brady, mgr of the Tropical Park racetrack at Miami, Fla., counseled an actor he saw plunging at the $50 window. . . "Look, son" said Brady, "for three years I was millionaire Alfred G. Vanderbilt's betting commissioner and we never made a quarter. When you go to a racetrack just squander $2 and get yourself two bucks worth of great entertainment." . . . One Broadway hefty taxpayer said he liked both Ike and Adlai and he would vote against the party. "I want to see a change in thieves."

The Cinemagic: Marilyn Monroe is showing her dimples in "Monkey Business," a zany zinger. Cary Grant comes through in Joe DiMaggio style. . . . "Woman of the North Country" is a dreary outdoor table. The plot requires fresh air. . . . Gene Kelly dispenses with his bigtime hoofing in "The Devil Makes Three" and sends tingles across your spine. The taut anti-Nazi theme is a reminder that all the Hitlers aren't dead. . . . "Dead Man's Trail" gives horses a nice workout. Giddyappy . . . "Beauty and the Devil" has several skillful Gallic stars putting the wink in their twinkling. It's a droll bees-and-birds-eye view of romance. . . . "Feudin' Fools" makes it difficult to enjoy your popcorn, and "Untamed Frontier" is a conventional Western with Shelley Winters giving it a Mae - Western touch.

The Telebrities: "The Big Story," which is often expert, had the year's most improbable tale. The hero - zero was a long-time professionally - dead tabloid editor, who became the Humpty - Dumpty of journalism. . . . "Father Knows Best' is a diverting mama-papahaha series. . . Another yarntertaining session is "Treasury Men in Action." . . . Imaginative production touches give "The Hit Parade,' a pel-melody tempo. The half-hour zinged along as though every minute had wings. . . . Royal Dano was attractive on the Westinghouse teevyer. . . . Kate Smith resumes on radio and tv tomorrow at 4 p.m. She will an-

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— The New Movie Faces: Philip Carey—A look-alike to Charlton Heston and Montgomery Clift on Warners' shoot-for-stardom list. Rugged, blond and over six feet tall, Carey began his flicker career in "Operation Pacific" and currently is emoting in "Springfield Rifle."

He was spotted in a Long Island summer stock play by a movie talent scout after serving a hitch in the U. S. Marines and attending college under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Carey replies to he what's-your advice-to-young-actors question:

"Let Hollywood bring you out from the New York stage. In Hollywood an extra is an extra all his life. It's too tough to break through."

Lydia Clarke—By pitching in to help her husband, Charlton Heston, make a screen test for "Come Back, Little Sheba," the brunet beauty landed the feminine lead in "Atomic City" after a big role in "The Greatest Show on Earth." She's been Mrs. Heston for nine years and is a Broadway and TV star in her own right.

Afraid of the Hollywood prejudice against actresses who are the wives of top male stars? Not Lydia, who says, "Our careers were always separate. Surely, they're not going to penalize me because I'm Charlton's wife."

Out of the Blue

Carole Matthews—A zippy blonde with comedy skill who stepped in as Dan Dailey's dancing-and-singing partner in U-I's "The Great Companions" when Kyle McDonnell left the cast in a cloud of temperament.

Carole started up the golden stairs as a disc jockey in Chicago, became a photographic model in New York and was brought to Hollywood for Paramount's "No Man of Her Own" after a talent scout bombarded the studio with telegrams about her star possibilities.

Gene Barry—Paramount's white hope and a click already in "Atomic City" is this strong-chinned, American-guy type, who will be seen in "War of the Worlds" and "Pleasure Island" before the year is out.

Gene began his career on the New York stage, vetoed movie bids left and right, but finally drove out to Hollywood with his family after a stock engagement last year. Within a few hours, a movie agent, Paul Wilkins, had lined up a screen test.

Hurry-Up Career

John Lupton—Katharine Hepburn played Miss Columbus in John's career by calling him to MGM's attention when she brought her "As You Like It" touring company to Los Angeles.

A blond, boyish type, John finished his run-of-the-play contract, then reported to Hollywood for a role in "Shadow in the Sky" with Nancy Davis. The Army tagged him as he was about to go into a role in "Westward the Women," but now he's back with a strong part in "Rogues March."

Anne Bancroft—It's swift stardom for Anne of the Olivia de Havilland-ish face, as Mrs. Sol Hurok in Fox's "Tonight We Sing."

Anne was plucked from New York television where she was known as Ann Marno (her real name is Anna Italiano) and she spurned earlier contract offers from Goldwyn, Warners and Columbia "because these days young actresses don't want to start in pictures. Everybody wants to make a reputation in TV first."

IN WASHINGTON

Gov. Adlai Stevenson by now is beginning to appreciate the weight of the load of anti-Trumanism which he must carry through this campaign. It surely offsets any overconfidence which the Stevenson following may have developed from his early season spurt in popular support.

If the dislike of the Truman administration is sufficiently widespread, General Eisenhower will be elected. Most observers agree that all of the freshness of the Democratic nominee's personality and all of his political punch can be exhausted in dragging the ball and chain which the record of the past four years constitutes.

General Eisenhower finally got around to recognizing that probability in his southern swing and will hammer at the Truman record from now on, possibly paying only passing attention to the new candidate running on the Democratic ticket. That has worked before, under different circumstances. Franklin D. Roosevelt was past master at ignoring his opponents and fastening attention on the things that he wanted voters to see. He was a political mesmerist of great skill.

The Republican nominee this time is not confronted by an opponent with such persuasive powers. He can if he chooses to pound away consistently at the Truman record of "high taxes", "higher spending" and "the mess in Washington" without being challenged too effectively even by the President, whose recent campaign efforts have not added up to the pointed arguments he made four years ago.

If voters are sufficiently annoyed by the record of the national administration as played upon Eisenhower, there is admittedly a chance of a landslide in his favor. Just because the pundits have not foreseen it is no reason that it will not happen. All that is needed is a heavy vote and enough voters impressed with a mission, which would probably mean that about 5 per cent more the eligibles would go to the polls, increasing the turnout to around 56 per cent of those entitled to vote.

That is what the Eisenhower managers, in a resurgence of enthusiasm, think they foresee. But there is one condition which has figured in every recent campaign, and which the Republicans have not previously met sufficiently. To persuade voters they should vote Republican, their candidate must spell out what he proposes to do and what he proposes to ask Congress to do to eliminate the ills which seem to afflict the country.

Since the New Deal and Fair Deal have been in power, the GOP has been a powerful factor in criticism but a feeble proponent of alternatives. Since the federal government is now by far the greatest business in the world, many pro-Eisenhower listeners not only agree that it is time for a change, but want to know some particulars about the change. The general is doing better at that than the preceding nominees, Messrs. Dewey, Willkie and Landon, but he still hasn't laid down a program, which he has ample time to do between now and election.

Political analysts are convinced that party platforms have considerably less influence on votes than do the practical, straightforward assurances given by the candidates themselves. If Eisenhower will tell what he plans and hopes to do with enough detail to convince his listeners that he has a good grasp of government affairs, which some of them think he does seems to be the most receptive audience offered any politican

HOLLYWOOD September 6 — Twelve years is a long time to stay away from Hollywood — but I'm glad I waited.

It gave me a chance to return in "Call Me Madame," a vehicle as much tailored to measure as a custom designed gown.

Broadway has been very generous with me, but most folks forget that it was in a motion picture that I got my start.

That was way back when. I had been doing club engagements at night while working days as a $35-a - week stenographer. Warner Bros signed me for a short. That was my first work before a camera.

I never saw the short, and as far as I know it might still be on the shelf. It wasn't until later that I teamed with Durante and finally got around to doing a Broadway show.

I've worked hard in show business, but what's more important I have been helped by many people, starting with the great George Gershwin. He gave me the song "Iv'e Got Rhythm". It wasn't until I belted over that number that people started talking.

George gave me the best piece of advice I ever received. I was just making a name for myself when he heard me audition.

"Ethel," he said, don't ever take singing lessons. You'll lose your individuality and become just another voice. Don't worry about breathing. It will come naturally. Just take a breath when you feel the need."
and forget about everything else."

I did what he said, and I guess it's helped me more than anything else in my career.

Irving Berlin was another who was helpful. He emphasized the importance of singing so that every syiabble could be heard clear up to the last row in the gallery.

That's why I stress enunciation so much. I want to be sure that everyone in the theater is getting his money's worth. It does my heart good to hear the galleryites

IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Talk of the town this week was the continuing feud between Mario Lanza and MGM.

Such hassles are always good fuel for conversation in Hollywood, which dearly loves a fight. Commented Humphrey Bogart: "Lanza's working it all wrong. He should have decided long ago whether or not he wanted to do the picture ('The Student Prince'.) But it's not a good idea to walk out on a picture after it has started. Fight with 'em first."

Bogart should know. His running battle with Warner Brothers has enlivened the town for more than a decade, and he is tops as a tactician in studio battles. But despite a dozen or more suspensions, he still retains a contract with Warners. That is seldom true with other studio battlers.

MGM has had more than its share of temperamental stars. A notable case was Judy Garland. The studio put up with her outbursts during the lush days, but took a firmer stand when times began to get tough. One day she failed to show up after lunch on the "Annie Get Your Gun" set. She was ousted from the picture and replaced with Betty Hutton.

The studio also tussled with her over her excess poundage when she made "Summer Stock." The picture was a headache from start to finish, and Miss Garland was given her freedom when it was over.

James Cagney was a prime battler in his heyday at Warners. Once he left the studio and sought work elsewhere. No other major studio would hire him, since they feared legal complications. So Cagney aligned with a small company named Grand National. After the firm became defunct, he drifted back to Warners, where he won an Oscar for "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Among the others who have tiffed with Warners are Olivia Dehavilland, Bette Davis, Joan Leslie and Lauren Bacall. Miss Dehavilland fought a long court duel which ended in her favor and established a precedent that has helped other stars. After a series of bad pictures, Miss Davis and the studio called it quits, ending one of the longest studio-star associations in Hollywood.

Joan Leslie fought a long court battle, which kept her virtually inactive in films for two years. She finally won, but her career had suffered a severe setback. Laurel Bacall nearly matched husband Bogart's record for suspensions, since she refused to do such films as "The Girl From Jones Beach."

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis staged a sitdown strike with their producer, Hal Wallis, this year. They wouldn't work until they got a bigger share of the profits. Being the biggest attraction in show business today, they got their way.

Teresa Wright got her release and a blast from Samuel Goldwyn after she refused to go on a publicity tour for one of his pictures.

And then there's the story of an Academy award star who recently won a new contract permitting him to do outside pictures and television. He made a picture on location for his studio. When it was finished, the entire sound track was discovered to be ruined by sand blowing against the microphone.

The star was asked to dub the whole picture with new sound. He realized that was not in his contract. So he refused to do the dubbing until the studio drew up a new and better deal!

IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A national presidential primary election in 1956 is favored three to one by U.S. newspaper editors in every state polled on the question by this column.

A much slimmer majority—54 per cent to 3 per cent—favors a change in Senate Rule No. 22 to limit debate and prevent filibusters. Ten per cent of the editors polled expressed no opinion.

It is the overwhelming vote of northern editors that accounts for this result. Southwestern editors favor no change in the present rule, 56 per cent to 44 per cent. Southeastern editors stick with the present rule five to one—77 per cent to 15.

On the Taft-Hartley labor relations act, 35 per cent of the editors say no repeal and no change. The other 65 per cent think the law should be amended in varying degrees to remove inequities—and even to strengthen its restrictions.

These are the highlights of this poll on what are probably the three most controversial issues facing the new Congress which convenes in Washington in January, 1953.

On the political make-up of this new 83rd Congress, most editors feel that it will have Republican majorities in both houses. But the number of editors predicting a Republican Senate is much smaller than that predicting a Republican House of Representatives.

In the last Senate, there were 50 Democrats to 46 Republicans. Senators whose seats are to be filled in the 1952 elections number 35—15 Democrats and 20 Republicans. The Republicans must therefore win at least 23 of the 35 contests to obtain a 49-47 majority.

Editors See Close Senate Race

On the outcome of this Senate race, 43 per cent of the editors think the Republicans will win control, while 41 per cent think the Democrats will retain their small majority. Sixteen per cent of the editors were unwilling to make a prediction.

Fifty-four per cent of the southern editors think the Democrats will retain control; 52 per cent of the northern and western editors think the Republicans will gain control.

In the last House of Representatives there were 235 Democrats, 200 Republicans. The Republicans must win at least 218 seats in November for majority control of one vote.

Fifty-three per cent of the editors think the GOP can turn this trick, while only 35 per cent think the Democrats will retain their majority control of the House next year. Twelve per cent of the editors would not hazard a guess on this.

Only in the Southwest was this sentiment reversed, 53 per cent of the editors in that area believing that the Democrats would carry the lower house as well as the Senate.

It is notable, however, that 10 per cent of the editors predict a Republican Congress next year qualified by saying, "Only if Ike wins," or "only if there is a Republican landslide."

As a corollary to this question of whether Republicans or Democrats would control the next Congress, editors were asked their opinions on what kind of a President General Eisenhower would make if elected. Would he be a "liberal" leader or a "conservative"?

The division was remarkably close among the 96 per cent who answered. Thirty-eight per cent think Ike will follow a liberal course while 37 per cent think he will be conservative.

Few See Ike A Middle-Roader

What this would seem to indicate is either that the general has not made his own position clear, or else that he is really a "middle-of-the-roader," which he himself says he is. But only 17 per cent of the editors so ticketed Eisenhower.

Comments of editors on this question were revealing. "Afraid he'll follow the Dewey line, unfortunately," said the Huntington (Ind.) Herald-Press.

"He'll be liberal," commented the Seminole (Okla.) producer, "but not socialist."

The Manhattan (Kans.) Mercury-Chronicle, Knoxville (Tenn.) News-Sentinel, San Luis Obispo (Calif.) Tribune-Telegraph and others think Eisenhower will be liberal on foreign policy, conservative on domestic.

The Buffalo (N.Y.) News thinks he'll be a liberal, "preaching enlightened conservatism."

Many editors also had sharp comments on the prospects for changing the Taft - Hartley law, amending the Senate filibuster rule and installing a national presidential primary in 1956.

In this last-mentioned issue, the Milwaukee (Wis.) Journal opposed the proposition with the observation, "Think what a Huey Long could do (with it)."

Strengthen the primary system in the states," recommends the Ponca City (Okla.) News and several other newspapers.

"Amend the Taft-Hartley law to curb the power of the labor bosses," recommends the Livingston (Mont.) Enterprise.

"Just use it," is the substance of advice from the Baton Rouge (La.) State-Times.

Summing up southern opinion on Senate rule changes, the Rock Hill (S.C.) Herald says, "The present rule protected liberal minorities in the past. It now protects conservative minorities. It should be kept as a protection for all future minorities."

POLLUTED DRINKING WATER

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Some of the people of the small New Zealand mining town of Ohai have been drinking their own bath water, diluted, and are none the worse for it.

Water for the miners hostel and 16 houses was being drawn from a stream into which, higher up, flowed from the miners' bath houses.

Health officers who discovered the situation ordered immediate alterations.

UNITED STATES POLL

By Princeton Research Service, Kenneth Fink, Director

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 6 — Results of the latest United States Poll nationwide survey show that among the nation's Independent voters those Independents who now lean toward the Republican Party outnumber by a 5 to 4 margin those who lean toward the Democratic Party.

However, a comparison of today's survey findings with those reported by United States Poll on July 16 shows there has been a possible significant shift of sentiment among Independent voters following the initial speechmaking of the major candidates. The number of Independents inclined toward support of the Republican Party has declined three percentage points, since July 16, whereas the number leaning toward the Democratic Party has jumped 10 percentage points. The number who say they do not lean toward either party dropped seven points.

Each Independent voter in today's nationwide survey was first asked: "As of today, do you lean more to the Democratic Party or to the Republican Party?"

LEAN TOWARD GOP OR DEMOCRATIC PARTY?
Independent Voters
Only, Nationwide
Republican 46 per cent.
Democrats, 38 per cent.
Neither, 16 per cent.

The July 16 United States Poll results on the same question showed 49 per cent leaning toward the Republicans, 28 per cent toward the Democrats and 23 per cent toward neither party.

tion as of today also prefer GOP

Responses to the second question asked in today's survey show Independents throughout the nation as of today also prefer GOP candidates for Congress over Democratic Party candidates by a 5 to 4 margin. Independents were asked, "If the elections for Congress were being held today, which party would you like to see win in this state — the Republican or the Democratic Party?" The tally:

CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION VOTE
Independents Only, Nationwide
Republicans, 51 per cent.
Democrats, 41 per cent.
Undecided, 8 per cent.

The third and last question in today's survey was "Right now, which of the two candidates — Stevenson, the Democrat, or Eisenhower, the Republican — do you personally favor for President?" The results:

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION VOTE
Independents Only, Nationwide
Eisenhower, 53 per cent.
Stevenson, 41 per cent.
Undecided, 6 per cent.

United States Poll nationwide surveys made over the last six months show that nearly three out of every 10 voters in the nation consider themselves Independents (28 per cent at the present time). These Independents hold the balance of power politically in the nation in this year's election.

It must be emphasized that today's Poll findings reflect only current opinion and that much can happen during the next 58 days to change people's minds.

A new United States Poll report will appear in the World Wednesday.

report that they can catch me crossing every "T" and dotting every "i."

I've liked each of my eleven Broadway shows, but my last, "Call Me Madam," was one of the greatest of all. Russel Crouse and Howard Lindsay wrote it especially for me. It played for almost two years before 20th Century-Fox acquired the film rights.

Now I'm back before the cameras bringing the same characterization to the screen. Hollywood is being very complimentary. My director, Walter Lang, said he didn't want to change my performance a bit.

"Just give 'em Ethel Merman" he instructed, "the same way you do in front of the footlights, and leave the rest to us."

By that he means he'd try to have the Technicolor cameras keep pace with all my moving around.

The last time I was in Hollywood was for "Alexander's Ragtime Band," in which I had a featured spot. I guess I wasn't the greatest success in the world, and I think that maybe it was because they tried to fit me into a celluloid straightjacket.

When I let go with a few high notes I'm not responsible for my antics. I may jump all over the stage if it's the way I feel while in the mood of the music. Up to now Hollywood hasn't understood that.

If 'Call Me Madam" — the film version, that is — turns out the way Mr. Lang and our producer, Sol C. Siegel, hopes, then I might just stay on in Hollywood.

On Broadway you can play to several hundred thousand persons in the course of a run, but one good film and you are seen by millions. And I've got just enough ham in my make-up to want to perform before a larger audience.

Lots of newspaper chroniclers ask about the methods I use to project my voice. I wish I could invent something that would sound real exciting. But the truth is that it's something which just comes naturally candidate of recent years.

All I know is that when I sing I sing with all that I have which is the only way I know how. I enjoy singing, and I hope the customers like it too.

The southern trip appeared to demonstrate that. Not many expect that section to go Republican, but part of he enthusiasm for Eisenhower can undoubtedly be attributed to anti - Truman sentiment. Many southerners, however, being dependent on Democrats in Congress, undoubtedly would wan to know what the General has in mind, before voting for him. Even those who live here and think they have a personal stake in an administration change would like to know how the change from Trumanism will be accomplished, and what the step-by-step conversion to a Republican administration would involve.

Two Negroes Hurt When Auto Overturns

Two Monroe Negroes were injured and their car demolished yesterday when a tire suddenly went flat and the vehicle landed in a deep ditch on the Biedenharn road.

Audry Rucks, 28, 212 South Eighth St., driver, and Levi Carter, Sterlington, were treated at the Charity Hospital for lacerations of the arm. A Negro woman, who was not identified by the state police, was not injured.

FOWLER TO HEAD DEFENSE SETUP

Chief Defense Mobilizer Appointed By Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—Henry H. Fowler, a 44-year-old attorney who has served in half a dozen government positions, was named today to head the Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM).

Fowler thus becomes, under President Truman, the top civilian boss of the nation's mobilization program. He will have over-all supervision of price and wage controlling agencies and those which parcel out scarce materials and encourage industrial expansion.

Technically, the Office of Defense Mobilization director has been vacant since last March 31, when Charles E. Wilson resigned with an angry blast at the way the labor-management dispute in the steel industry was being handled by the Truman administration.

In the five months since then, Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman has been acting mobilization director. Fowler, now head of the Defense Production Administration (DPA), will take over from him on Monday.

In announcing Fowler's appointment, President Truman cautioned that there must be no letdown in the nation's defense effort. In a letter to Fowler, Truman said:

"The nation cannot be permitted to falter for a single day, month or season in the work of defense mobilization which is the key to peace and security for America and the free world."

The President said Fowler will continue as defense production administrator until it can be determined to what extent that agency can be merged with the ODM, which he will head.

Fowler, who has been a practicing lawyer while not in government service, had originally served notice he wished to return to private life. But the White House said he had agreed to accept the ODM job and stay on until Dec. 31.

In his letter, Truman thanked Fowler for this decision and said he was anxious to free Steelman of the ODM burden "in order that he may resume his full-time role as assistant to the President to work with me on other matters during the remaining months of this year."

Fowler's present period of government service began in September, 1951, when he was named deputy administrator of the National Production Authority (NPA), one of the mobilization agencies set up in the months after the outbreak of war in Korea. In January he became head of NPA and of DPA. He is giving up the former job in the shift announced today.

At various times in the past, he had served with the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), the Justice Department, the Federal Power Commission, the War Production Board of World War II and a U. S. economic mission in London.

Fowler is a native of Roanoke, Va., and a graduate of Yale University.

ATOM POWER TO REDUCE NEEDS FOR MANPOWER

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Powers in Europe, Sept. 6 (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins assured North Atlantic Treaty Powers today that American atomic weapons eventually will reduce manpower demands for the defense of Europe.

Such atomic weapons as are already available, the U. S. Army chief of staff told newsmen, would be put into action right away in support of both American troops and their allies from all the NATO nations in the event of war.

Collins remarked that "atomic weapons will not lessen the number of divisions required initially for the defense of Europe."

Then, in response to questions, he said:

"They will result ultimately in ability to do the job with a smaller number of divisions. They can add materially to the ability of Western Europe to defend itself."

NATO appears dropping short of its goal of 50 divisions, active or in immediate reserve, for 1952. Ministers of the 14-nation organization are meeting in Paris in mid-December to patch gaps in the program and nail down a rearmament schedule for 1953.

Collins spoke to a group of correspondents in SHAPE headquarters, which he was visiting as part of a regular tour of American troop installations. English, French and American newsmen based most of their questions on atomic weapons after the general said he was not here to discuss buying weapons in Europe to pep up the European rearmament drive.

Collins, looking very trim and young for a four-star general, told the correspondents he would not tell what type of atomic weapons were available.

"The Russians would like to know that," he added.

But he said he was discussing with all NATO Powers how atomic weapons should be used in case of war.

They are best on defense to concentrate on troops massed to attempt a break through, he explained.

When one of his replies gave the impression atomic weapons would be supplied to NATO troops, he corrected himself to say that "they will be used in support" of all troops. That left in doubt whether A-bonbs and the newer tactical weapons would be distributed among the Allies, or kept strictly in American hands. He declined to clear up the point.

He said he doubted whether the Russians had atomic tactical weapons, such as atomic artillery, but that any defense force would have to assume that in time they would develop them.

NOTEBOOK

NEW YORK (AP) — Jesse James was born in the wrong century.

He wasted his criminal talents holding up banks, ambushing trains on horseback, and died young himself, a victim of the crude instrument by which he lived—a pistol.

Today Jesse James would have to sharpen his technique considerably to survive in a crime field that has become a big business—truck cargo thefts.

Looting the heavily-laden behemoths of the highways is now a highly lucrative industry for well-organized gangs who operate with the timed precision of a professional football team making a touchdown play.

The rewards are high. Single trucks have yielded $100,000 in furs, $50,000 in liquor, $40,000 in cigarets, or—as in one case—$30,000 worth of brassieres.

Truck hijacking has become so widespread that losses rose from $22,000,000 in 1945 to $65,000,000 in 1951, and some insurance experts fear the toll this year may reach $75,000,000.

Here is the kind of cargo these criminal specialists go for, as measured by losses last year: clothing, food, textiles, tobacco, furs, liquor, metals, television sets, money, and furniture.

"All it requires to steal a 2-ton truck is nerve," said Jack Seide, 42, head of Babaco Alarm Systems, a pioneer in truck cargo protection.

"Contrary to the public's idea," he said, "most truck hijackings don't occur on lonely stretches of the open road at gunpoint.

"Ninty-nine per cent are pulled off in a metropolitan area. They are usually thefts from unattended vehicles. "Gunplay is very rare, because it is unnecessary."

Some gangs set up their jobs with inside help from trucking firm employes, whom Seide feels aren't carefully checked for past criminal records. Some gangs loot unguarded trucks on the spot, others drive them away and empty the contents at their leisure, then abandon the vehicles.

Seide became interested in the problem as a young traveling salesman for a jewelry and watch supplies firm shortly after graduating from high school..

Thieves repeatedly broke into his car and stole his samples.

"It wasn't the value of the samples themselves theft bothered me," he said, "as the time I lost from selling until the samples could be replaced."

With the help of a friend, he made a crude burglar alarm that would sound the horn if anyone tried to tamper with his car. It worked. He lost no more samples. Other salesmen heard of his alarm, and asked him to make one for their cars.

Seide decided to make vehicle protection his career, and developed his invention. It took him five lean years of hunger to interest trucking companies and insurance writers in it.

Today he leases his alarm systems to firms operating more than 8,000 trucks, has 100 agencies from coast-to-coast, boasts that no truck protected by one of his alarms has ever been hijacked.

"But having a million dollar idea," he said wryly, "isn't nearly as hard as putting it over after you get it."

G. O. P. Congressman To Speak For Ike In La.

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 6 (AP)—A Republican congressman will invade Louisiana's Democratic Capitol City Wednesday to speak at a political rally for GOP nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower.

U. S Rep. John V. Beamer, Republican of Wabash, Ind., and a member of the Eisenhower campaign speakers' bureau, is scheduled to talk here.

Harrison G. Bagwell, Baton Rouge Republican leader announced Beamer's visit.

He said the rally was jointly sponsored by Republicans and Democrats.

Beamer — veteran of World War One and a farmer, will speak at 7:30 p. m. at the Baton Rouge Junior High School Auditorium.

The representative, Bagwell said, was the one who introduced a joint resolution urging severance of trade relations with Czechoslovakia because of imprisonment of AP correspondent William Oatis.

FAMED ACTRESS LAWRENCE DIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—Actress Gertrude Lawrence, who swept to international stardom in a real life rags-to-riches story rivalling any of her many stage roles, died today.

Friends gave her age as 51. Other sources listed it variously from 50 to 54. A family spokesman said death was caused by "an acute disorder of the liver."

Miss Lawrence, a trooper in the stage tradition, fought off increasing pains for days last month to continue her performances in the current Broadway musical hit, "The King and I."

"She wouldn't give in," said her husband, theatrical producer Richard Aldrich.

Finally, he said, he kept insisting until she agreed to take a leave from her role after the Aug. 1 matinee and entered New York Hospital.

There her illness was diagnosed as yellow jaundice. Still, there did not seem to be cause for alarm.

Early today, however, her condition took a rapid turn for the worse. Shortly after 7 a.m. (EST), with her husband and two close friends—Fanny and David Holtzman—at her bedside, she died.

A daughter by an earlier marriage, Pamela Gordon, an artist, was reported flying here from London for funeral services tentatively set for Tuesday.

The English-born actress' long stage career was marked by a versatility rarely seen in the theater, and a success rarely accorded anyone.

She sang, she danced, she played light comedy, and she played heavy drama. Everything she did clicked with her audiences.

She wept with homesickness when she first came to New York in 1924—but her first night made her a star here.

And forever after she was a success—she never had a failure on Broadway.

From that first production, "Andre Charlot's Revue" in which she won New Yorkers with her singing of "Limehouse Blues," she went on to even greater acclaim in such vehicles as "Private Lives," "Susan and God" and "Lady in the Dark." She was as popular in Europe as in this country.

Honors and prizes flowed in as "standing room only" signs went up, and the public demand for more Lawrence kept her hopping back and forth across the Atlantic.

The critics cited many reasons for her triumphs. Miss Lawrence herself gave some of her own:

"I am not what you would call a wonderful dancer, but I am light on my feet and make the best of things. I know that I am not a great singer . . . but I do know how to sell a song to an audience."

No matter how bad the times, he could always depend on a lady's vanity to keep him in the tattoo business.

85,00-Acre Hunting Area Being Established In Miss.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 6 (AP) — An 85,000-acre hunting area running through George, Stone, Harrison and Jackson counties is being created by the State Game and Fish Commission.

More than 80 landowners signed leases permitting state management of the wildlife area.

The State Game and Fish Commission will allow controlled hunting in season with the usual license, but will require an additional permit that can be purchased at one of the five checking stations set up at entrances to the area.

Carl Havard, project leader who spent six months securing the said crops would be planted within the game area to attract deer and turkey.

We hope to triple the deer and turkey populations by controlled hunting," he said.

The area will be Mississippi's first and will be known as the Red Creek Management Area. The land is mostly covered with hardwood and pine trees and is drained by Red Creek, source of its name.

Rolland Handley, federal aid coordinator, estimated Red Creek area will cost about $20,000 to operate the first year.

The federal government puts up 75 per cent of the funds and the state 25 per cent.

Handley said, "Eventually we hope to establish similar projects throughout Mississippi to increase our wildlife."

The four major landowners that leased the big acreage are U. S. Forest Service, International Paper Co., University of Mississippi and Dantzler Lumber Co.

MALIK BORROWS WORD FROM H. T.

Russian Says U. S. Ruling Circles 'Snollygosters'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—Borrowing a campaign word from President Truman, Russia's Jacob A. Malik said today American ruling circles are "real and true American snollygosters."

The Soviet delegate specifically accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower of aiming at aggression against Russia; denounced the American presidential candidates generally, and said neither they nor President Truman could be believed in pledging themselves to peace.

It was Malik's second thrust in the United Nations at Eisenhower, the Republican candidate.

Truman used the word "snollygoster" in a whistle-stop campaign speech Tuesday at Parkersburg, W. Va. He was referring to Republican campaigners. Later the President said he had heard the word from his father and understood it meant "political shyster."

The Soviet delegate's scornful comments were made during a blast delivered on the membership question in the Security Council. He was making a last-minute effort to win votes for his proposal to admit 14 countries at once to the 60-nation organization. The United States and a majority of the council have rejected the proposal but a formal vote is not expected until the next meeting Monday.

"People who in the field of political struggle are false, hypocritical, slanderous and indiscriminately use any method and make any promises to achieve their aims are called by the old and difficult-to-translate English term, snollygoster," Malik said The experience of United Nations work and in particularly the consideration of the question of admission of new members has exposed to everyone the falsehood and hypocrisy of the United States attitude in this question.

"The ruling circles of the United States act in this question and continue to act as real and true American snollygosters; that is, as hypocrites and slanderers who do not fail to stoop to any method to achieve their purpose."

GIANTS SLAM DODGERS TWICE, 6-4 AND 7-3

BROOKLYN SEES LOOP LEAD CUT TO FOUR GAMES

Errors Costly In First; Hearn Hurls 4-Hitter In 2nd

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP) — The New York Giants, bent on pulling off another miracle, plastered a double defeat upon pressure-burdened Brooklyn today, 6-4 and 7-3, to slice the Dodgers' once healthy National League lead to four games.

A year ago today, the pennant-bound Giants trailed the Dodgers by 5½ games.

Jim Hearn, blasted out in his last eight starts, not only won his first game since Aug. 1, but went the distance in the nightcap, limiting the free-swinging Brooks to four hits. He retired the last 13 batters in a row. The big righthander helped win his 13th game with a home run into the right field stands in the fourth inning, his third of the campaign.

Four Dodger errors helped the Giants pick up three unearned runs, enough to win the opener. Faulty Brooklyn base - running—which killed off two threats—aided the Giants' cause considerably.

The two triumphs assured the Giants of the season series with their interborough rivals, whom they meet again in a single encounter here tomorrow followed by a day-night double header Monday. The Giants have won 13 to Brooklyn's six.

The Giants now have won five straight, and have chewed off six and a half games from the 10½ length margin the Dodgers had last Aug. 26. The Brooks have dropped nine of their last 12, including four in a row.

Keyed up over their thrill-packed first game win, the Giants teed off on starter Johnny Rutherford for three runs in the opening inning of the nightcap and were never headed.

Tougher Campaign Ahead Will Be 'No Bed Of Roses' For Northeast Eleven

Coach Malone Leaning Heavily On Development Of Frosh

Declaring the football fortunes at Northeast Louisiana State will be "no bed of roses" this season, Coach James L. Malone last night said development of freshman talent will carry the most weight in success of his Indian grid machine against a steadily growing tougher schedule.

"Two schedule changes in particular have resulted in lining up better opponents," Malone declared. "We realize we're in no bed of roses, so right now we are being concerned only with the Southeastern Louisiana game. We're just going to take our battles as they come up and hope for the best.

"Freshmen hold the key to our success. We lost a lot of good boys from last year. These new additions, several of them looking very impressive, are going to have to spell the success or failure of our team as a winner this season."

Additions of Stetson University of Florida and Arkansas A. and M. in the place of Ouachita College and Southeastern Oklahoma went a long way toward improving the Indians slate—or at least making it tougher for them. Stetson enters this season with a string of 21 straight victories, including triumph in the Tangerine Bowl. Arkansas A. and M. has been beaten only three times in the last 22 games, twice last year and one in 1950.

Both Stetson and Arkansas A. and M. are coached by veterans of professional football—Jim Benton at A. and M. and Joe Pattee at Stetson.

Malone last night said workouts will continue this week on a two-a-day scale until classes begin as the Redskins get ready for their invasion of Hammond and season opener with the Southeastern Lions on September 20.

CHERWELL COPS FOXCATCHER RUN

Basalt Three Lengths Back In Steeplechase Event

FAIRHILL, Md., Sept 6 (AP)— Mrs. E. Du Pont Weir's Cherwell bided its time until the next to last jump and then ran off with the 13th Foxcatcher National Cup sun - baked spectators.

Rider Warren Lane held 5-year old gelding back until the driving finish to win by three lengths over James F. McHugh's Basalt, leader over 17 of the 19 jumps.

Only four horses accepted the challenge of the tough course on William DuPont, Jr.'s., 11,000-acre estate. Mill River stable's Monkey Wrench finished third and F. Ambrose Clark's Sundance Kid lost rider Scott Riles on the 13th jump, the formidable six feet 4-inch Chinese Wall.

Cherwell, winning its first race this year in eight tries, covered the three miles over rolling country in 6:03 2-5. The course record of 5:56 3-5 was set by last year's winner, Justin Funkhouser's Palaja.

There was a clue to Cherwell's ability in its breeding and those cognizant handicapped the J. E. Ryan trained horse as an even money choice. Cherwell's mother, Best By Test, is the dame of Elkridge, the greatest money winner among steeplechasers.

Basalt, an import from Germany, was in front from the second through the 18 jumps. Rider Lane kept Cherwell either second or third all the way around and then made his bid on the final hurdle.

CRACKS RECORD

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)— Jack McGrath, Pasadena, Calif., broke the track record today to win the 100-mile American Automobile Association race at the New York state fair. McGrath's winning time was 89.224 miles an hour. The previous mark, set in 1937, was 87.49 miles an hour.

PELICANS CLAIM SEASON OPENER

L. T. I. Defeats Mississippi Training School, 19-0

L. T. I.'s Pelicans looked better than they have in several years here at Pelican Field as they defeated a larger Mississippi Wolverine eleven 19-6 yesterday. The game was off with a bang as Johnny Hernandez took the opening kickoff and moved 86 yards behind perfect blocking to pay dirt.

Later in the first quarter, Fisette went over from the two for the second score for the Pelicans. He missed both his first two attempts for conversions.

The game was played on even terms until the final quarter when Fisette heaved three touchdown passes to Plaisance, Carrier and Johnston, only to have two of them called back because of penalties. Fisette's try for the extra point was good.

Hernandez, Bengeron, Carrier and Fisette shouldered the Pelican offense, while Center, Candinate and Rodriguez showed outstanding defensive play in the line.

Standout offensive players for the Wolverines were: Krispin, Veazey, and Inabnet.

The Pelicans have a return engagement with the Mississippi eleven at Columbia, Miss. on October 3.

MULLOY MEETS SEDGMAN TODAY

Battle For Men's National Tennis Championship

FOREST HILLS, Sept. 6 (AP)— Gardnar Mulloy, the 38-year-old Floridian, took a few more slugs from his private fountain of youth today and softly stroked his way into the finals of the National Tennis Championships opposite Frank Sedgman, the 23-year-old defending champion from Australia.

In becoming the oldest campaigner ever to reach the last round in the 71-year tournament history. The Miami veteran treated a packed crowd of 15,000 to a brilliant exhibition of baseline control as he whomped Hamilton Richardson, 19-year - old former junior champion from Baton Rouge. La., 10-8, 6-0, 8-6.

Sedgman, who has sailed through six rounds of play without losing a set or really stretching his long legs, trounced his left-handed countryman, Mervyn Rose, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4. The curley-haired Aussie bridegroom has far too many shots for the other amateurs operating today.

Mulloy, who played through five gruelling sets in defeating Ken Rosewall, the Australian junior champion, in yesterday's quarter-finals, was a very bushed individual when he finished with Richardson today. He figures to stand little chance against Sedgman in the final unless the Aussie suddenly is taken sick.

Maureen Connolly, defending champion in the women's division, received a severe scare late in the day when Shirley Fry, Akron, O., won a quick first set and jumped into a 4-2, lead in the second, but the slugging 17-year-old rallied to pull it out by scores of 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Tomorrow's final will pit Maureen against Doris Hart, Coral Gables, Fla., who won through in two long baseline sets against Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, 9-7, 8-6.

Miss Hart reached the final on three previous occasions, losing twice to Margaret Osborne and once to Pauline Betz.

NATCHEZ EVENS C. S. L. PLAYOFF

Indians Take Measure Of Meridian Millers, 5 To 3

NATCHEZ, Miss., Sept. 6 (AP)— Natchez evened its Cotton States League playoff series with Meridian tonight with a 5-3 victory over the Millers.

Both teams now have two wins in the best four out of seven series.

The teams will play here again tomorrow night and then will return to Meridian for the finish.

he victory was sweet revenge for Al Heuser, Natchez hurler. He defeated veteran Vallee Eaves, who hurled a no-hitter against the Indians the last time he pitched here.

Heuser was on the losing end of the no-hitter although he gave up only three hits himself. The no-hitter also clinched the regular season pennant for Meridian.

The Indians jumped into a three run lead in the third inning.

Eaves got in trouble as he walked two men, shortstop Bill Carr and Hank Adkins, and then wild pitched them to second and third. They scored on a double by Manager Troy Mitchell, who then came in on a long outfield fly after advancing to third.

Natchez added another run in the sixth when Hal Walther started things with a walk. Gene Harvey tried to sacrifice but reached first safely when no one picked up his bunt. Walther reached third on an infield hit by Don Allen and scored on a long outfield fly.

The Indians then added another insurance run in the eighth.

Meridian scored one run in the seventh when Ray Krupa singled, moved to second and scored on Dolph Regelsky's single.

The Millers got their last two when Gene Pompelia singled and Krupa hit a homer over the right-field fence.

YANKEES WELL UP

NEW YORK — If Casey Stengel fails to lead the New York Yankees to their fourth straight American League pennant some old headlines will be dusted off. Some of the experts will write that Stengel will retire if the Yankees miss.

However, Casey will be anything but discouraged. Even if he loses, it is doubted he will retire. He has all the money he wants but loves baseball.

He has done a commendable job, keeping the Yankees in front so long despite adverse conditions.

In the spring both Joe Collins and Billy Martin came up with broken ankles in training. Yogi Berra came up with a bruised thumb and rival players began calling him "jake", an expression athletes use when a player is "dogging it" and refuses to play because of a minor injury. However, Yogi missed the first nine games, five of which the Yankees lost. Yet he is among the league's leading home run makers.

Then there were the calls to the service of Jerry Coleman, who was hitting above .400, Bobby Brown and Tom Morgan. And Ed Lopat has been of little use because of a sore arm. On top of that Collins, whose bat and fielding have been very important, has been suffering from bursitis.

LIONS AWAIT PELS; TIGERS AIM AT NATCHEZ

HOMER INVADES OUACHITA CAMP FOR FRIDAY TILT

Mobley, Perkins Escape Serious Injury In Opener

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, escaping with no serious injuries during their bruising game with Jonesboro - Hodge here Friday night, are pointing for next Friday's battle here with the Homer High School Pelicans.

Frank Mobley, promising young halfback, and W. D. Perkins, new fullback recruit, were the most "damaged" of Coach Jim Hodgin's talent, but they were pronounced okay yesterday.

Mobley suffered a bruised back However, x-rays were taken yesterday for assurance that he was not seriously hurt.

A black eye was Perkins' reward, and the young fullback, taking his damaging lick on his first tackle of the game, reported he wasn't able to see out of the eye during the first half. But he was okay yesterday.

"We made a lot of mistakes against Jonesboro - Hodge," Coach Hodgins said last night. "For a team (Ouachita) that's been getting such a build - up as a power in the state, we didn't look so good. We're bound to run up against better teams, especially when those tough 'AA' games come up, and we're going to have to do a whole lots better.

"I've been trying to tell these boys of mine they're going to have to play hard to win. Maybe they'll begin listening. For a while out there last Friday night Jonesboro-Hodge made it look mighty close until we were able to shake loose enough to get a comfortable lead."

Plenty of work is on tap for this week to correct mistakes, and Hodgins indicated he'll continue to experiment with his lineup in search of a top combination.

"We'll keep changing around until we get the best possible team on the field. The blocking in the line wasn't too good Friday night," the Lion mentor observed. "But the boys can block, I know that, and they're going to have to do it."

Homer, in the game here Friday night, will be seeking to get a measure of revenge for losses to the Lions in the last two years. Ouachita won last year 13-0 and took the 1950 game 40-6. Homer last beat Ouachita 14-13 in 1949.

9-STROKE BULGE FOR JIM FERRIER

Snead, Haas Deadlocked For Second In Empire State

ALBANY, N. Y. Sept. 6. (AP)—Big Jim Ferrier fired a record-breaking 8-under par 62 today to take a nine - stroke lead at the three-quarter mark of the $15,000 Empire State Open Golf Tournament.

The San Francisco pro's scorching round gave him a 54-hole total of 192—18 under par.

Deadlocked at second with 201 were Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Freddie Haas of New Orleans. Snead shot a 68 and Haas a 67.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., was next with 202 after a 65 today.

Bracketed behind him at 204 were Ed Oliver of Lemont, Mike Homa of Rye, Armand Farina of Schenectady and Mike Turnesa of White Plains.

Oliver had a 66, Homa a 68, and Farina and Turnesa each had a 71.

Ferrier's blistering round today broke the record 63 he shot Thursday over the 6, 178-yard Normanside Country Club course.

Ferrier needs a 67 in tomorrow's final 18 holes to tie the P. G. A. all - time tournament record of 259 for 72 holes held by Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan.

Ferrier was out in 33 today, two under par. On last nine the husky former Australian birdied the 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th holes.

After parring the 15th, he knocked a number two iron on the green of the 470 - yard 16th and sank an 18-foot putt for an eagle.

Standing eight under at this point, with a chance to break his record, Ferrier was trapped on the 17th for a bogey, but he recovered on the 18th. There he holed a 35-foot putt from the back of the green for a deuce to end up with a 29 on the back nine.

Gorman's Effective Relief Hurling Enables Yanks To Beat Senators 5-2

New York Retains 2½ Game Lead Over Cleveland

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The late - blooming Washington Senators wilted at crucial moments tonight and their six-game winning streak expired as the New York Yankees capitalized on the Nats' shoddy fielding, brainless base-running and faltering clutch hitting to register a 5-2 victory.

Tom Gorman, bespectacled rookie right - hander, followed Winner Ray Scarborough and Ewell Blackwell to the mound and gave a brilliant relief performance to enable the Yankees to hold a two and a half- game lead over the second place Cleveland Indians. The Nats dropped into a virtual triple tie for third place.

The Yankees had been given some stiff talk by their manager Casy Stengel last night after they had dropped a 3-2 decision in Philadelphia.

Tonight's game brought 22,279 fans into Griffith Stadium.

Mickey Grasso led the home team's 10 - hit attack with four singles as they remained a threat until the final out, but they collapsed in tense situations to wrap up the game for the Yankees.

The league - leaders were on top, 3-2, in the ninth inning when Eddie Yost's fumble of Gorman's score, but Eddie's miscue had been preceded by other disastrous miscues by his teammates.

SIMS REPORTED NOT SERIOUSLY HURT AT BOLTON

Neville Invades Mississippi For Game Friday Night

The injury of Captain Leland Sims at Alexandria Friday night almost came as a disastrous blow to the Neville High School Tigers, but it was reported yesterday that medical examinations has revealed no serious injury to the outstanding Tiger guard who was named on the Associated Press All - Louisiana Class A team last year.

Sims was injured at the start of the game in which Bolton Bears defeated Neville, 21 to 0. Loss of Sims is bound to have affected the rest of his team as the husky lineman did not return to the contest.

While Coach Bill Ruple yesterday began pointing his Tigers for an invasion of Natchez, Miss., next Friday for a meeting with with Natchez High School's Big Eight conference outfit, Sims was undergoing examinations for a possible head injury.

He was said to have suffered a blow on the back of the head, but negative reports yesterday were in favor of Sims and he is expected to be ready soon to resume his place with the Tigers.

"We knew Bolton, after three seasons of weak ball clubs, was greatly improved this year and were not too surprised at the outcome of the game Friday, Coach Ruple said yesterday. "Nevertheless, we made many mistakes that otherwise might have made it a closer ball game."

Actually, the Bears had to take to the air to overcome the Bengals, scoring their three touchdowns on passes.

Natchez is an infrequent visitor to Neville schedules but in the last two years socked the Tigers 14-6 and 2-0. Back in 1943 the Bengals bowed to the Mississippi eleven, 50-0, and previously Neville had won, 26-0, in 1933.

After the Natchez trip Friday night the Tigers will return to prepare for their home opener the following week in a Class A conference battle with the Homer Pelicans.

RAY, LUND SCRAP HEADLINES CARD

Four Matches On Bastrop Boxing Show Tomorrow Night

BASTROP, La., Sept. 6 —(Special) — Just how good is Norris Ray? Is the middleweight pride of Bastrop ready to advance in professional boxing?

That's what the home folks intend to find out here Monday night when Norris gets the green light in a ten-round main event against Tony Lund, promising New Orleans welterweight. Promoters Ray and Larche Campbell today said Ray has scaled down to meet the welterweight limit of poundage for the fight.

"This should be a slam-banger", Ray Campbell said, "as we understand Lund is a 'comer' who has not lost a professional fight. Lund is a hard puncher and clever boxer. If Norris gets by this boy he will be on his way."

Ray stopped middleweight Joe Sultan, Monroe, in the first round of his last match here recently.

The card Monday night at the Bastrop Baron's baseball park includes three other matches.

Earl Pardon, Oak Grove, 1952 Memphis Golden Glove featherweight champion, will meet Earl Stevens, New Orleans, in a bout expected to provide plenty of action.

Don Harell, also of Oak Grove, is paired against Al Boudreau, New Orleans welterweight. Harrell was a member of Oak Grove High School's fine team of the last few years and will make it tough on the veteran Boudreau.

Opening match on the program will pit John Crow and Harold Sanders in a clash on welterweights. Crow gained boxing experience while serving in the navy, and Sanders has been working out faithfully since the last bouts here and is in pretty good shape for this one.

Bessemer Wins Amateur Crown

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6 (AP)—Bessemer, Ala., won the All - America Amateur Baseball Association Championship, defeating Zanesville, O., 8-5, tonight.

It was the first title for Bessemer the nine times the tourney has been held. Bill Henderson was the winning pitcher for the Zanesville game and also for the Bessemer win over Spring Grove of Catonsville, Md., the defending champions, earlier today.

That game, taken by Bessemer 4-3 in 12 innings, was a continuation of yesterday's 3-3 10-inning tie.

Bessemer put the final game on ice with a [illegible]-run rally in the sixth inning, [illegible] a time when the winners held a 3-2 lead. Morris Bunn was the big gun, driving in two runs with a single. Joe Barksdale and Doug Johnson had doubles in that big inning.

Bobby Carr of Bessemer led the hitters with four safeties in five trips.

Until the sixth, Zanesville put up a fighting stand, featured by bases-empty home runs by Joe Hursey and Tom Checkush. Checkush was named most valuable player in the tournament by press and radio representatives and scouts.

Coach Aillet Trims Louisiana Tech Football Squad To 55 Best Players

Bulldogs Get First Heavy Scrimmage Session Saturday

RUSTON, Sept. 6 (Special) — With his tackle situation at a rather low ebb, Head Coach Joe Aillet put his Louisiana Tech gridders through a softened workout Friday afternoon as he polished the offensive patterns before getting the first general scrimmage Saturday afternoon.

The Saturday scrimmage came as a climax to the first week of training operations in which the Bulldogs have been kept on their toes with a tight schedule of activities.

Starting off with a crop of 60 candidates, the Bulldog roster has now been trimmed to 55 and the head mentor reported that this would probably be the number retained on the squad for the remainder of the season.

And with the first week's work tucked away neatly Coach Aillet was rather pleased with the way the Bulldogs had conducted themselves afield.

"It's an eager bunch of fellows we have this year," he said. "They have been able to absorb the training remarkably well and have displayed a fine aptitude for the game."

The high intelligence level of the whole squad was one of the factors contributing to the smoothness with which a rough work schedule was handled in the first week of training "and it will help us continue the pace of the past week in the short time remaining until our first game Sept. 20," Coach Aillet added.

With the Bulldog roster containing almost 50 per cent freshmen, 11 of those first-year men are up forward competing for line assignments.

"If they continue to handle themselves as they have in the past week, it looks like all of them will play this season," Coach Aillet said. "In fact, with our tackle situation being what it is, I can guarantee that the first-year tackles will see lots of action."

Among the freshmen on the Tech squad are the following candidates for line positions:

Ends — Joe Roberts, Baton Rouge; Larry Grissom, Baton Rouge; Charlie Anderson, Plain Dealing; and Bruce Lenoir, Mansfield.

Tackles—Bay Worsham, Rodessa, and Wayne Shows, Jonesboro

Guards — Larry Barbay, Baton Rouge, and Bob Wiltshire, Pace Miss.

Centers—Tommy Allen, Ruston; Kelly Hart, Bastrop; and Donald Bates, Delhi.

Following the general scrimmage session Saturday, the Bulldogs were due for a rest Sunday. But Monday's schedule calls for a resumption of the sprint - and-scrimmage two-a - day workout program, with morning sessions in shorts and evening classes in pads.

M'Donald, Henry Get Tag Assignment Against Phantom, Scott At Kallio's

Roughhouse Brawl Promised On Tuesday Night's Card

Two old favorites, "Sockeye" McDonald and Henry Harrell, return to Gus Kallio's Arena here Tuesday night for a tag team scramble with the current villains of the southern mat circuit, "Mighty" Scott and Black Phantom.

Scott, also ruler of the world's light heavyweight wrestlers, and the hooded Phantom have been roughing up the people's favored idols so often in recent bouts, even when losing, that the customers are just waiting for some one a little tougher to come along to tame the ring's wild men.

Last week Scott polished off Charley Carr, Shreveport, in the latter's bid for the light - heavy title, and the Phantom played mayhem with Kallio's referees, Bill Barney and Jack Roberts, in the co - feature.

McDonald and Harrell promise to give the fans what they have been waiting for, a team capable of giving Scott and the Phantom their own kind of ring warfare.

Harrell, in particular, is noted for his roughhouse tactics when opponents show signs of using the methods themselves. Harrell, usually starting along conventional wrestling styles, frequently turns into a back alley bruiser when he grows tired of eye - gouging, slugging and hair - pulling by his opponents.

Actually, the relay scramble promises to be one of the wildest Kallio has offered in some time, especially with four such matmen participating.

The tag feature will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win.

Two one - fall preliminaries will serve as warm - ups for the tag team talent.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6 (AP)—Sabaean, a 25-1 shot, smashed Hawthorne's 6½ furlong record today in shooting to a 2¼ length triumph in the $18,350 Midwest Handicap.

The winner, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Granger, Olympia, Wash., led from start to finish and was drawing out at the wire.

L. J. Hollenbach's sophomore colt, Eljay, finished second, three lengths in advance of Clarence Hartwick's filly, Sickle's Image, the 5-2 favorite of the 22,375 fans.

J. S. Bradley's Sun David, second choice, was fourth in the 11-horse field.

Sabaean, a 5-year-old, was overlooked by the bettors. He returned $52.80, $20.40 and $8.40. Eljay's prices were $7.40 and $4.40. Sicle's Image paid $3.00.

ANCESTOR COPS DISCOVERY CASH

Makes $22 Payoff With Upset Victory At Aqueduct

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—Ogden Phipps' Ancestor upset the dope chart in the $25,000 - added Discovery Handicap at Aqueduct race track today by dashing to a six-length lead on the backstretch and then coasting home by two and a half lengths.

The 3 - year - old son of Challedon - Bloodroot zoomed to the lead at the start and was never seriously challenged in the mile and an eighth race run in a fast 1:50 4:5. Ted Atkinson was the pilot.

Arnold Skjeveland's Flaunt came on with a rush in the final six-furlongs, but couldn't menace the winner. At the wire, Flaunt was a neck ahead of Saxon stables' Marcador, winner of the Golden Gate Derby last April.

Cain Hoy stable's Armageddon, the winner of the Withers and Peter Pan Handicaps this spring at Belmont who toted top weight of 121 pounds was fourth.

Lightly held by the crowd of 32,764, Ancestor returned mutuels of $22, $9.10 and $7.10.

It was the first stakes triumph and fifth overall victory for Ancestor in 24 starts this year, and gave his millionaire sportsman owner a purse of $19,550. Ancestor had earned but $18,050 previously. Last year he was out of the money in three starts.

Grecian Queen, rated off the pace by Eric Guerin, ran down Allen H. Smith's Piedmont Lass and Flirtatious to score by half a length with the favorite a neck back of Piedmont Lass. The last time Grecian Queen and Flirtatious met, the latter won by eight lengths in the Spinaway at Saratoga.

Grecian Queen returned $20.30, $7.20 and $3.40.

Holy Cross, Ouachita, Istrouma Get Top Ranking In Class AA Forecast

Statewide Poll Puts Monroe's Lions In Second Place

NEW ORLEANS, Spt. 5 (AP) — Holy Cross, Ouachita of Monroe, and Istrouma of Baton Rouge—that's the order in which the experts predict the finish for the 1952 Louisiana double-A prep football championship.

Placing first in an Associated Press poll was Holy Cross of New Orleans with 136 points, Ouachita second with 134, and Istrouma third with 130.

The AP asked sports writers and broadcasters who cover prep games to pick the way they expect the top 10 teams to finish.

Holy Cross, seeking its fourth straight city title, has 14 lettermen returning with at least one for every position.

Powering the offense will be a 20-pound line-busting back, Lou Deutschman, a member of the AP's all state team last year.

Istrouma, defending state champion, was picked to win the southeast district title; Ouachita the northern district crown, and Terrebonne of Houma the southwest district title.

Terrebonne placed fourth in the poll with 94 votes, getting three first place ballots.

The last time a New Orleans district team won the state title was in 1948 when Fortier beat Lake Charles 2-0.

Ouachita has 13 lettermen back and if the Monroe eleven can maintain the power it generated in the close of last year's campaign, the opposition will have some rough nights.

The Monroe eleven closed its campaign in a blaze of glory last fall by beating the Arkansas state champions.

Istrouma lost heavily from last year's squad, but the Baton Rouge team has 18 lettermen back to form another championship club.

Here is the way the voting went, tabulated on the basis of 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, eight or third, etc. (with first place votes in parenthesis):

1. Holy Cross (8)	136
2. Ouachita (2)	134
3. Istrouma (2)	130
4. Terrebonne (3)	94
5. Sulphur (1)	84
5. Sulphur (1)	84
6. Jesuit (1)	77
7. Lake Charles	72
8. Fair Park	70
9. St. Aloysius (1)	41
10. Byrd	28

Others mentioned were Warren Easton 25, Catholic high 14, Baton Rouge 13, Bogalusa 12, Bolton 11, Bossier City 10, Haynesville 8, Jennings 6, New Iberia 5, Lafayette 4, and Redemptorist and Bastrop, 1 each.

Joe Black Walks Alone After His Threat In Letter

NEW YORK, SEPT. 6 (AP)—Joe Black, apparently umperturbed, took the long walk from the Brooklyn dressing room to the Dodgers dugout all alone at the Polo Grounds today.

The Dodgers' ace relief hurler had been threatened with death by an anonymous letter - writer if he dared appear at the park today for the double - header with the New York Giants.

The Dodger dressing room is nearly 500 feet from home plate. Black calmly walked down the steps and strode directly across the middle of the field to reach the dugout. At no time did Joe Gaze toward right or left. Nothing happened.

Twenty detectives were circulating through the stands at the time. Others were stationed on Coogan's bluff, which overlooks the playing field. Still others checked on a nearby housing development.

The writer of the letter mentioned the fact the playing area, including the pitchers' mound, is visible from parts of the development.

Tape Recordings Latest Thing For Grid Scouts

LEINGTON, Va., Sept. 6 (AP)— Football scouts at Virginia Military Institute will throw away their pencils and notebooks this season. And right now, the guys are brushing up on their phoenetics.

For Tom Nugent, V.M.I.'s youthful head coach, will arm his scouts with tape recorders.

"They won't take a single note," Nugent said. "Instead, they'll sit there and describe the game just as they see it — as if they were announcing it over the radio. A scout can talk much faster than he can write, and we expect one scout to be able to do the work of two by this method."

Nugent said that when the scout returns from a game, the tape will be played over and over again for the team's coaches, who will make notes.

NAME STODGHILL WILDCAT LEADER

Winnsboro Grooms For Lake Providence Game Friday

Winnsboro, La., Sept. 6—Special) — The Winnsboro Wildcats move into the final week of practice Monday morning before journeying to Lake Providence Friday night where they open the 1952 gridiron campaign with the powerful Panthers.

Coaches Phillip Poole and Orville Elkins, in their second year of work at Winnsboro, will open with a starting club of eight reglars back from last season and three other sparkling competitors.

"Bubba" Stodghill, stellar center, will captain the '52 Wildcats with towering Tommy Davis and Tommy Bankston serving as co-captains. Stodghill is a one-year letterman, Davis two years and Bankston three.

With its backfield bulging with power, exploding with speed, the 'Cat eleven promises to threaten the favored Lake Providence squad, who looked exceptionally strong in the Jena Jamboree Aug. 29.

Eugene Southern, a passer who has pin-point accuracy at 50 yards, will handle the quarterback chores with speeding Steve Thompson and Bankston at the halfback positions. Southern, 160 - pound scatback, will be one of the outstanding ball carriers in Class A ball this year. Powering Phillip Cobb will run from fullback as a two-year lettering 190-pounder.

Johnny Duncan and Davis hauled in regular berths at ends and Earl Huff and Billy McGraw tackles. Davis, brilliant playing end in '51 promises to fill the shoes of former outstanding ends in 'Catville.

At the guard slots, Michael Mayer and Frank Cheek will start with linemen Charlie Gordy, Joe Alpe, Harold Moore, Jimmy Riser and Ralph Gill in reserve. Cheek has lettered one year and has plenty of power with his 185-pound frame.

Doug Robinson, Don Southern, Don Boutwell, James Mock and Dave Jones will fill in as second-string backs. Robinson, hard-running senior in his first year of football, will probably do a lot of ball-hauling in the season's opener.

The Wildcats reported for practice August 13 and have been working both morning and afternoon since. The Winnsboro team has scrimmaged the Waterproof Tigers twice and the strong Big Eight Natchez, Miss. Rebels once. The "B" club met Gilbert after two weeks of work.

Word from the 'Cat den is that the Wildcats are in top physical condition.

Coach Poole said in a telephone conversation late last night, "We know we'll play the role of the underdog, but—we're ready."

Chicago Wins In Pro Exhibition

DURHAM, N. C., Sept. 6 (AP)— The Chicago Bears roared to a one - sided 37 - 7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles today in the first major league professional football exhibition game ever played in North Carolina.

The Bears turned two Philadelphia fumbles into first - quarter touchdowns before 18,000 spectators in Duke Stadium.

Bob Williams, former Notre Dame star, threw touchdown passes of 37 and 41 yards to Virginia's Gene Schroeder. George Blanda of Kentucky added the extra points from placement. Another Eagle fumble gave the Bears a scoring chance late in the second quarter. With two seconds left in the half, Wilford White of Arizona State kicked an 11-yard field goal for the Bears to give Chicago a 17-0 halftime advantage.

The Bears added two more tallies in the third quarter. Jules Rykovich plunged over from the two-yard line. Dick Hensley of Kentucky intercepted a Bobby Thomason pass and raced 30 yards to score.

The Eagles averted a whitewash in the final period when Fullback John Brewer of Louisville sprinted 17 yards to score. Halfback Dick Gregory scored the final Chicago tally by plunging over from the seven - yard line late in the fourth quarter.

KENNON BOLTS

Kennon and all other high-minded Democrats who place the welfare of their country above bureaucratic party politics."

It was Kennon who led the Louisiana delegation's stand against the "loyalty pledge" at the Chicago party convention.

"I am a Democrat," Kennon said in a prepared statement, "but first I am an American — the latter transcends party politics."

The time is here, Kennon said, "to end a sorry era in American history, to put General Vaughn out and General Eisenhower in, to delouse our government of five per centers, racketeers and influence peddlers."

Kennon did not mention support of his administration; many of his leaders are pro-Eisenhower. One of them, state auditor Allison Kolb, was one of six of Louisiana's 10 Democratic electors to resign rather than support Stevenson.

The Governor did call on "each voter" to put "statesmanship" and "good moral leadership" above party affiliation.

Nearly all the slightly more than a million voters in Louisiana are registered democrats. Louisiana backed the States Rights' presidential slate in 1948, but hasn't gone Republican in a national election since 1876.

Kennon is the only governor of the original four States Rights' states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina to declare for Eisenhower.

His own Democratic State Central Committee paved the way for such action. Two weeks ago it pledged its electors and party rooster emblem to Stevenson, but refused to recommend the nominee or the party platform to the Democrats.

Kennon termed the committee decision "an open door to Democrats to vote as they please."

"A lifelong Democrat has the legal and inherent right to vote the national party ticket of his own choice," he said.

There is nothing in the Louisiana election laws to prevent a registered Democrat voting as a Republican in the general election.

Kennon's decision is no surprise. For the last two weeks, he has been leaning toward the GOP nominee. He has been increasingly critical of Stevenson.

Kennon said Edwin Hunter, who was his state campaign manager told him "that unquestionably the general will carry the state.

"The North Louisiana parishes will go lopsidedly for Ike," Hunter said.

The Louisiana Governor's action was unprecedented in state history.

Kennon said he had given his decision deep thought and that he was convinced "The present party leaders have deserted Democratic principles.

"The Jeffersonian principles of decentralized Democracy, of local self government, individual liberty and free enterprize are as obsolete in Washington today as the hoop skirt and knee breeches of the colonial era."

Kennon went on to say that "Beneath the scholarly Wilsonian accent of the Democratic nominee is the reality of Trumanism and bossism — the stark tones and cracking whips of party bosses and their city machines."

Kennon explained the reasons for his opposition to Stevenson.

"When Stevenson told an editor in Oregon he'd clean out the mess, we thought maybe he meant it," he said. "But it didn't take him long to back-track after Mr. Truman told reporters he knew of no mess in Washington.

As Mr. Truman stated, the President is the key of the Democratic campaign and Gov. Stevenson must run on the fair Deal record. Gov. Stevenson is doing just that.

"As an example, only a few days ago, Stevenson fully embraced the Truman-Humphrey federal compulsory FEPC bill — after stating originally that perhaps the states should be given the chance to act on their own initiative before the federal government stepped in. The Humphrey measure is the Truman-backed version of FEPC.

"Next," Kennon continued, "Stevenson embraced the Truman anti-States Rights' position on the tidelands. First he had said he thought a tidelands compromise could be worked out satisfactory to all. But Mr. Truman gave him the signals, and he changed his line.

"Thus Stevenson would continue the Truman tidelands grab policy which has thrown aside the rights of the invididual states in the tidelands and has taken from Louisiana the revenues that were vital to the education of our children. Oil taxes already play a major role in the support of our public schools. Our tidelands contain wealth for schools, roads and improvements for the coming generations of our state.

"Gov. Stevenson would go along with Mr. Truman's plan to limit debate in the U. S. Senate. This, in effect, is a direct threat at free speech, and conceived to accomplish what the nation cannot and will not tolerate."

Kennon emphasized that in Louisiana in 1948, the majority of voters "didn't want any part of Trumanism.

"During the gubernatorial primaries this year, I promised the people . . . that if I were elected governor, Louisiana's electoral vote would not be cast for President Truman if I had the power to prevent it.

"Since 1948, the temper in this state and nation has grown hot against the overcentralization of power in Washington."

Kennon's decision may point to another state scrap with members of the dynamic Long family.

It was U. S. S. Russell Long, son of the late Huey P. Long, who took a dramatic stand against Kennon at Chicago on the "loyalty pledge" issue.

Russell Long's uncles, former Gov. Earl Long and Dr. George Long, have announced for Stevenson.

Dr. Long, 68, eldest of the family, last week won an Eighth District congressional race in what the Longs hailed as a political comeback after the gubernatorial defeat.

The victory was in a traditional Long stronghold.

EARL LONG

unavailable for comment.

Jones and Kennon were defeated by Long in the 1948 gubernatorial contest, with Jones and Kennon running second and third.

Jones was a member of the 24-man Louisiana delegation to the national Democratic convention in Chicago.

After the sizzling fight that broke out in Louisiana several months ago between forces of Eisenhower and Sen. Robert Taft, Jones, an attorney, represented the Eisenhower faction in a Seventh District legal dispute over delegates to the GOP convention in Chicago.

Long, describing what he said were Kennon's recent election losses, pointed to the recent victory of his brother, Dr. George Long, in the Eighth District congressional race in Baton Rouge, a judge's race in Kennon's home district.

"Dr. Long beat Kennon's main stooge, Mayor Carl Close of Alexandria, who had announced he was backing the Kennon anti-Truman, anti-Stevenson doctrine," Earl Long said.

Kennon was out of town and unavailable for comment.

The governor last week said Dr. Long's congressional victory was no surprise because the name of Long in Louisiana politics was usually good for at least 25 per cent of the vote.

Earl Long, in Alexandria where he now makes his home, said Stevenson's record as governor of Illinois has been outstanding—he didn't hesitate to clamp down on Democrats and Republicans alike whenever he found wrongdoing.

"When Stevenson gets advice, he knows enough about government to know whether it's good or bad advice. I wouldn't support Stevenson if I thought Truman had any control over him."

Long voted for Truman in 1948, but made no public gesture in Truman's behalf in the year when Louisiana voted for the States Right's presidential ticket.

Long did call a special session to help put Truman's name on the ballot.

In recent months when controversy arose over whether Truman should run again, Long opposed the President's seeking another term.

Stevenson's opposition to full state control of the tidelands has been one of the reasons he has drawn Kennon's critical fire.

Long, however, took this view: "I don't think Stevenson's position is half as bad as Eisenhower's in regard to the tidelands.

I'm confident that when he has had the chance to study over the situation, he'll favor state control of the tidelands."

THREE HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

One person was hospitalized and two other injured yesterday when a Louisiana Highway Department truck collided with a soldier's automobile at the intersection of North Seventh and Cypress, West Monroe, police said.

L. L. Hogan, of Choudrant, driver of the state owned truck, was hospitalized at the St. Francis with severe lacerations of the face and head and numerous bodily bruises. Injured were: Cpl. Rodney Johnston, 23, Sikes, who just returned from Korea and J. E. Witherton, 49, West Monroe, both of whom were treated for head wounds. Palmer H. Wilson, Farmerville, a passenger of Hogan's was not injured.

O. H. Hill, investigating officer, said Hogan, traveling north on North Seventh and Johnston, driving west on Cypress, both failed to stop at the intersection. Johnston's car struck the truck in the center. The terrific impact spun it around and caused it to turn over, Hill said.

"The traffic light at the intersection had temporarily been disconnected for repairs," Officer Hill said.

M'Granery Junks Plan To Investigate Local Crime

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—Atty. Gen. McGranery said today he has junked plans to convene special grand juries all over the country once a year to investigate local crime conditions.

Enforcement of the federal laws, McGranery told newsmen, can be left safely to the regular federal grand juries which are in session much of the time in the 94 U. S. judicial districts.

"Showmanship ought not to be any part of the administration of justice," the attorney general said. "Such administration calls for dignity and certainty."

The idea of special grand juries to probe into local crime was first advanced by a Senate Crime Investigating Committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn). It was put into effect by former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath but was received coolly by some federal judges.

McGrannery also announced today that he has disbanded the 13-man "racket unit" which McGrath established last January to evaluate reports from the special juries and keep the program going.

He said he did not like the name "racket unit" and added: "Labels won't do the trick. We have lots of units in the criminal division, functioning effectively, and not known by Hollywood names."

In response to a reporter's question, McGranery said he agreed with Federal Judge Ben Moore of the Southern West Virginia district who commented: "A revival-meeting type of law enforcement may look well for a time, but its effect soon wears off. It is not the American way to carry on law enforcement through mass hysteria, or through newspaper propaganda, or through any kind of crusade."

Judge Moore was one of several judges who refused to respond to McGrath's call for special juries.

Kefauver recently reiterated his faith in the plan for special grand juries. He said 66 sessions were held this year and about 250 racketeering indictments returned.

It was McGrath's intention to have the special juries meet in January of each year to examine local law enforcement officials and known criminal characters and to return indictments when federal violations could be established.

HONDURAN TANK SHIP BREAKS UP

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 6 (AP)—A 5,500-ton Honduran tanker, caught in seas made stormy by an Atlantic hurricane, split in two off the South Carolina coast today and hours later 11 of her 30 crewmen were still missing.

The Coast Guard reported that 18 survivors were rescued by the Norwegian ship Emu which was near the ill-fated tanker, the Foundation Star, when she was torn apart by the churning seas.

Navy, Coast Guard and commercial surface craft sped to the scene about 130 miles southeast of here, in an effort to find a lifeboat carrying 11 of the Foundation Star's crewmen, among them the captain. They were joined by three Coast Guard planes.

Two of the 30 crewmen at first had refused to leave the wreckage when the Emu reached the scene. However, the Coast Guard reported at 1:30 p.m. (EST) that one of the two men had been rescued and efforts were underway to pick up the second man.

The Emu earlier had radioed that the second man had refused to jump when a lifeboat circled the wreckage three times. The message added tersely: "Our lifeboat in bad condition. Will try again."

The Navy diverted four of its destroyer-type minecraft to the scene. Two Coast Guard vessels, the Charleston-based cutter Travis and an icebreaker, the Northwind, also sped toward the area.

Meanwhile, the Emu and another tanker, the Mercury Sun, scoured the area, looking for the missing lifeboat. Three Coast Guard planes patrolled overhead.

printed at the top of a ballot. The latter reference is to the rooster emblem of the Democratic party in Louisiana and the editorial also will say that the volume of returns indicates a militant spirit in behalf of Eisenhower, however, and that the Eisenhower percentage "indicates a definite election margin for the GOP nominee in a part of the country where for decades no one ever uttered the word 'Republican' without preceding it with cuss words".

The Times has not endorsed a presidential candidate of either party since 1936.

Which way

do you look at things?

WHETHER YOU SEE EYE-TO-EYE with Adlai or Ike, one thing is certain:

From now till November 4th, you'll want to know how they look at all the big issues . . .

Europe . . . Korea . . . taxes . . . controls . . . income . . . all the problems that reach into your daily life here in our town.

And to help you weigh each candidate day by day as each issue comes to light--you turn to your newspaper. Just as you've turned to it daily for dozens of other reasons since you first learned to read.

For the latest facts . . . for goings-on in our town, our state, our entire world . . . to see what's for fun and what's for sale. Not only what—but where and when and how much it costs.

And in the newspaper we read all about it . . . or only as much as we want. We read any time we choose—any place we choose.

That's why nearly everybody reads the newspaper nearly every day.

• That's why so many people who sell advertised products insist that they be advertised in newspapers.

Because in newspapers an advertising message has a chance to reach all people who can buy. Not just sports fans or quiz fans or music fans or comedy fans . . . but everybody.

That's why all advertisers—both "national" and retail—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is first with the most news . . . first with the most people . . . first with the most advertisers.

MISS LA. ON SCOOTER

Barbara Barker, above, Miss Louisiana of 1952, is making a trial run on the new Sears Allstate Motor Scooter.

Barbara Barker Tries Sears New Motor Scooter

"Miss Louisiana" — Monroe's own Barbara Barker, who competed at Atlantic City for the coveted Miss America title, has made a trial run on the Sears Allstate motor scooter.

Designed and manufactured in Italy, a new 4½-horsepower motor scooter has just been introduced in the local Sears, Roebuck and Co. store at 107 North Fourth St.

This imported scooter, called the "Cruisaire," rounds out Sears Allstate line with a two-cylinder, super-deluxe model that can travel up to 45 miles per hour.

Besides this new unit, the Allstate line includes a 3-horsepower standard and a 3½-horsepower deluxe motor scooter made in the United States.

According to C. D. McAdams, Sears local manager, the Cruisiaire is being manufactured for Sears by Piaggio & Co. of Genoa, Italy, one of the world's leading makers of motor scooters.

Its features include continental styling mono - coupe type steel frame, 3-speed transmission with direct drive, front and rear brakes and a luggage compartment at the rear.

"Motor scooters are filling an ever-growing role in the nation's transportation system," Mr. McAdams explained. "Thousands of scooters are in daily use carrying people to school and work, running errands, making deliveries and providing healthy recreation."

Electrical Gadget Will Broaden Study Of Brain

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6 (AP)—An electrical apparatus that will allow a more thorough study of the brain was demonstrated at the autumn meeting of the American Physiological Society here today.

Dr. Robert Hodes, Tulane University physiologist who demonstrated the Stearoetaxic technique of implanting electrodes in the human brain, said the equipment will enable the study of formerly inaccessible brain areas.

Dr. Hodes said the varying sizes and shapes of skulls and brains of dogs and men prevented a complete study to be made with the earlier frame device.

Dr. Hodes explained the operation of the equipment: A small opening is made in the skull and an electrode—a silver ball 1-25th of an inch in diameter—is implanted. Wires are attached to the ball and to a recording machine.

Ink-writers attached to the recorder mark the electrical impulses generated by the brain.

The doctor gave an example. "For instance," he said, "if a small electric shock were applied to a given area of the brain and the subject flicks an eyelid, indications were that the particular surface area of the brain under shock was the part which operated the eyelid."

The operation is done under anaesthesia, Dr. Hodes said, and it is possible to leave the electrode in place and to study the subject for some time after the operation.

NELSON TO SERVE AT GRACE CHURCH

Will Become Choirmaster, Organist October 1st

The Rev. John Maury Allin and the vestry of Grace Episcopal church announced today that Gustav A. Nelson, of Helena, Ark., has accepted their offer to become organist and choirmaster, effective October 1.

Mr. Nelson is a graduate of the MacPhail College of Music of Minneapolis, Minn., and has pursued graduate studies at the Institute of Musical Art in New York and the Universities of Minnesota and Michigan. In addition, he has studied with Dimitri Mitropolous and Percy Grainger. He also holds the degrees of Bachelor of Music and Associate of the American Guild of Organists and has had 25 years of experience as a church musician in the midwest.

The distinguished musician was ahead of the music department of Gustavus Adolphus College in Minnesota for 15 years where he organized the nationally known acapella choir. In 1942 Percy Grainger accompanied this choir on its annual tour as guest artist and conductor of his own choral compositions.

As a teacher of piano, Mr. Nelson has been on the faculty of the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Mich., for three seasons. Before establishing his own school of music in Helena, Ark., he was head of the piano department at Hendriz College, Conway, Ark. Last March, his pupil, Miss Anne Sugg of Helena won first place in the mid-south piano scholarship contest in Memphis.

Mr. Nelson is a member of the national Phi Mu Alpha fraternity; president of the Phillips County Young Artists Association, and a member of the board of directors of the Young Artists Concert Management, of Memphis, Tenn.

ORGANIST

Gustav A. Nelson, above, of Helena, Ark., on October 1 will assume duties as organist and choirmaster of Grace Episcopal Church.

BORER CONTROL SEEN

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)— Battelle Institute reports one of mankind's most destructive pests is in for a tough time—thanks to a simple dentist's X-ray machine.

Dr. Clyde Williams of the Columbus institute says more effective control of destructive marine borers and other types of marine damage is in sight. "At our North Florida research station, we have found it possible to take pictures of wood damage caused by marine borers, using a simple dentist's X-ray machine," he reported. "This gives us an invaluable aid for studying wood preservatives as they are being developed."

A clearer understanding of how anti-corrosive paints protect steel and other metals from sea air and sea water is needed, the research leader said.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Deborah Kay Harrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Harrell of 105 Smith Ave., celebrated her first birthday Friday, September 5.

The Home Shift

BY MILDRED SWIFT

Well, the shift is one year old today. I've enjoyed visiting with you through this column and hope to meet you here each Sunday for many years to come. Don't be modest. If you have learned a good household hint, have an unusual shrub, know a neighbor with a lovely garden, call me. Let's pass the information on to others in Ouachita and surrounding parishes. A number of you have told me you made new friends following up names and addresses of people and practices mentioned in this column.

AROUND THE GARDEN

I've fallen in love with "Cleome" this year. This flower has a tropical look and they have bloomed so profusely. You'll see these in Tony Veazy's back yard, (1425 Forsythe Ave.) Gladys Dickerson's, (1200 Forsythe, on the right front) and at Maud Mayo's (205 Lakeside Drive) They're perennials, reseeding themselves and coming up again year after year.

Maud Mayo was telling me she makes arrangements using the tiny bunches of bananas from our Louisiana banana plant. You've seen the blossoms used, of course. They're such a heavenly shade of lavender. My plant hasn't bloomed this year. When I said that to Maud she, very tactfully, reminded me that they are tropical and need full sun. I do have my plant in semi - shade. These banana plants multiply so fast any place you see one growing you could ask for a bulb for next spring's planting. Verne Jackson gave me one in March. . .its six feet high now and even though it doesn't bloom its a lovely shrub. They're so little trouble, too. After the top dies in the winter, cover it with leaves and straw to protect from freeze.

There's no plant growing that gives us so much color for so little trouble as Periwinkle (Vinca Major). Don't confuse this with Vinca Mina which is the trailing type and only blooms in early spring. The Vincas Major is blooming now in colors of white and pinkish lavender. We have some blooming across the front of the Agriculture Building that haven't even been watered this year. They're strutting in all their glory in the Dawson's yard (1625 Park Avenue), and the Henry Guerriero's, (504 Speed Drive.) They do respond to good care as is shown by those two yards. The seed are planted in late spring. The ground definitely must be warm or you'll lose your seed.

FOR YOU

Mrs. W. N. Bird, 309 South 1st Street, Monroe has quantities of early blooming white and purple Iris she'll give you if you will do your own digging. Mrs. Bird called these the common white and purple, but any Iris bloom is beautiful.

CAREFUL GIRLS!

Those who wear a girdle, here's a hint. . .The specialist says if you wear the zipper type be sure to fasten the bottom hook before pulling on the garment. This is to protect the zipper.

PLENTIFUL FOODS

Fresh Bartlett Pears and stewing hens head the September plentiful foods list. Fresh produce includes grapes, lettuce and peaches. Also in generous supply are turkeys, frozen fish and cottage cheese. Others on the list for the month are honey, buttermilk, salad oils, vegetable shortening and cooking and table fats, including lard.

See you next Sunday in this same column.

The beautiful wedding of Miss Sybil Harriet Russ, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edwin Russ and William Wallace Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moss B. Christian was solemnized at the First Baptist Church of Tallulah on Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock with the Rev. Shirley Briggs officiating at the impressive double-ring ceremony in the presence of many relatives and friends.

The nuptial music was rendered by Miss Peggy Ann King who played several appropriate selections and accompanied Miss Sallie Joe Foster who sang in lovely voice, "Through the Years" and "Because."

Baskets of white gladioli and clematis sprays and white cathedral candles in floor standards formed the decorations in the sanctuary. The reserved pews were marked with bows of white ribbon.

The bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Ramagos, Miss Patsy Murphy, Miss Cecelia Benjamin and Miss Annette Smith wore identical dresses of nile green net over taffeta made with fitted bodices and folds of net forming the low neck lines and ballerina length skirts. They carried nosegays of yellow roses and net and wore matching flowers in their hair. The matron of honor, Mrs. Merlin Christian, sister - in - law of the bridegroom was dressed in a frock exactly like the bridesmaids but of a slightly darker shade of green.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage, was lovely in her bridal gown of white nylon net trimmed with Chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with a molded bodice and ballerina skirt with which she wore a lace bolero with long sleeves which tapered to lily points over the hands. Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid.

The bridegroom had as his best man, his brother, Merlin Christian and the ushers were Robert K. Laird, Tommy Ervin, Robert Harrop and John Halbach. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Russ chose an eggshell lace dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Christian, mother of the groom wore a dress of chartreuse and blue with a corsage of red roses.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Russ entertained with a reception in the church parlors. The refreshment table with its draped organdy cover was centered with a beautiful arrangement of white asters, clematis and tuberoses. Iced punch was served from a crystal bowl by Miss Josephine Phillips and the handsomely embossed wedding cake topped with lilies of the valley was served by Mrs. James E. Wall. Miss Garnet Montgomery had charge of the bride's book. Assisting in the courtesies were Miss Betty Sue Horn and Miss Katherine Rogillio.

After the reception the bride changed to a gray faille suit with matching accessories which she wore with the orchid from her wedding bouquet. The couple left for a short trip and on their return will reside in Ruston where both are students at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Out-of-town quests in attendance were Mrs. W. E. Day, Mrs. Jake Miller and Miss Betty Day Miller of Mt. Olive, Miss., and Mrs. Frank Dry and Mr. and Mrs. Woody Dry of Shreveport.

Miss Dorothy Alice Pomeroy Is August Bride Of Bill Hodge

First Methodist Church Of Bastrop Is Setting For Impressive Double-Ring Ceremony

An unusually impressive occasion marked by unforgettable beauty and solemnity was the marriage of Miss Dorothy Alice Pomeroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Webb Pomeroy, and Bill Hodge, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hodge.

The ceremony took place in the First Methodist Church of Bastrop Friday, August 29th at seven o'clock in the evening.

Deep and tender sentiment was evidenced as the Rev. Webb Donnolly Pomeroy, brother of the bride, officiated and further emphasized as the Rev. G. W. Pomeroy, uncle of the bride, assisted with the vows of the double-ring ceremony.

A garden type setting which encompassed the bridal party as they entered the chancel was created with arrangements of white gladiolas and white king asters interspersed with snow on the mountain in cascading effect placed at either end of the chancel rail and lush greenness of palms extending to the center opening. Massive white flower arrangements and tall candelabra entwined with southern smilax and holding white tapers, placed in graduated positions among emerald palms completed a most unusual and effective scene.

The candles were lighted by Larry Hodge and Miss Joan Templeton, who wore a floor length white organdie model, her corsage was pink feathered carnations.

While the guests were being seated, Miss Myrtis Fortenberry, the church organist, played a program of nuptial music and used the bridal chorus by Wagner as the processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march as recessional. She accompanied Mrs. W. W. Storment who sang "Because" and "O, Perfect Love." Preceding the last solo, Rev. J. H. Midyett, pastor of the Bastrop Methodist Church and close family friend, read several passages of scripture concluding with a prayer.

The ushers, Billy Huckaby, Bill Crosby, Bill Black and Paul Pomeray, brother of the bride preceded the maids, Miss Ann Wesson, Miss Ann Shirley, Miss Connie Entrikin and Miss Patsy Laird who entered the chancel to await the bride. The matron of honor, Mrs. E. R. Barry, stood with the groom and his father, Mr. J. D. Hodge who served as best man, to meet the bride at the altar. The bride's attendants wore identical floor length dresses of white embossed organdie, styled with low neck line and a diagonal waist detail of graduated buttons. Their head dresses were ruffled bandeaux of lavender embroidery. They wore a single strand of pearls and carried bouquets of lavender king asters tied with wide matching ribbon.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown was Swiss organdie fashioned with fitted embroidered bodice buttoned down the back with self covered buttons and featured a flattering neck line of embroidered scallops, enhanced by a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. White organdie gauntlets met the short scalloped sleeves. The bouffant organdie skirt had a divided embroidered over skirt which fell into a graceful train. The finger tip veil of illusion flowed from a dainty cap of embroidered organdie. Her bouquet of glamelias, lilies of the valley and feathered carnations was exquisite in freshness and design.

Mrs Allen Pomeroy wore a floor length dress of aqua chiffon with a beaded lace waist. Her accessories were of palest pink and her corsage pink rosebuds.

Mrs. J. D. Hodge wore pink chiffon with lace waist and skirt paneling. Her accessories were pink and her corsage was an orchid glamelia with white detail.

Reception

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception held at their home. Mrs. H. R. Templeton and Joan Templeton met the guests as they entered the yard, and Mr. W. C. Corley welcomed the guests on the porch and introduced Mrs. Guy Cunningham of Garden City, Mich., twin sister of Mrs. Pomeroy. Mrs. Webb Pomeroy of Deerford presided at the guest book. Mrs. Lynn Pomeroy, Sr., of Shreveport then invited the guests into the living room. After the courtesies of the receiving line, the guests moved into the dining room. Candle light cast a mellow glow over the dainty table which was covered by a white dotted Swiss cloth with a ruffled floor length skirt. Tiny combination white pottery vase candle holders of unusual design, each centered with a pale lavender candle, at the base of which was massed white periwinkle and pompon asters formed a table length design entwined with clematis encircling the punch bowl and wedding cake placed at either end. Mrs. T. C. Hodge of Springhill cut the wedding cake and Mrs. Clyde Burt presided at the punch bowl. Other hostesses assisting in these courtesies were: Mrs. Clifton Beasley, Mrs. G. W. Pomeroy, Mrs. D. S. Norris, Mrs. W. W. Storment, Mrs. Ray Boyd, Sr., Mrs. Alec Pettiss, Mrs. Eleanor Shirley, Mrs. J. R. Ludlum, Mrs. G. W. Hiatt, Sr., Miss Amarylis Rogers and Miss Shirley Harp.

Guests then enjoyed a friendly conversational period in the yard where chairs had been grouped. The coffee table was covered with a white damask cloth. Mrs. Neal Jenkins and Mrs. Jesse Roper alternated at the silver coffee service. Assisting in these courtesies were: Mrs. Raymond Jenkins, Mrs. S. E. Cathey, Mrs. Christy Roberts, Mrs. Noble Nelson, Mrs. George Roper, Mrs. Frank Kerico, Miss Nan Ludlum and Miss Barbara Joy Spier.

Pamela Pomeroy, a charming little miss in a long white organdie garden frock with lilac sash passed among the guests with a basket of tiny sacks of rice tied with white satin ribbons.

For traveling, Mrs. Hodge wore a steel gray linen dress, the waist embroidered with an all over design of white braid and pearl beads. Her jacket was of lighter gray and her accessories black velvet. She wore a white glamelia.

After the wedding trip through the Ozarks the couple will make their home in Baton Rouge until Mr. Hodge's graduation from L. S. U. in January.

Mrs. Hodge is a graduate of Bastrop High School and Centenary College, a member of Chi Omega sorority. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Donnolly and Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Pomeroy.

Mr. Hodge is a graduate of the Springhill High School and Magnolia A. and M. College. He attends L. S. U. and is vice president of his fraternity, Pi Kappa Alpha.

Miss Pomeroy wore an all-over embroidered dress of pale pink. Her corsage from the hostesses was unusually beautiful, fashioned of white feathered carnations and lavender gladiola buds, tied with lavender and silver ribbons.

Places were marked at the bride's table with dainty white cards cornered with white flowers. The table was covered with a white damask cloth and centered with a mass arrangement of white periwinkle and clematis which trailed gracefully the length of the table. An identical arrangement was placed on the mantle and reflected effectively in the large mirror.

Individual tables were covered with white cloths and centered with arrangements of white candles and white periwinkle. The place cards were pastel, cornered with contrasting flowers.

Soft candlelight and music created a most romantic atmosphere. Miss Pomeroy presented her attendants with silver letter openers engraved with the wedding date, and Mr. Hodge presented his attendants with leather jewel cases. The gifts were wrapped in white and tied with lavender and white ribbons.

SINGAPORE (AP)—Beer, avoided by Chinese on grounds of being "too cooling," a few years back, is today drunk by nearly all Chinese.

The habit has grown so great it is threatening to put more than 100 Chinese liquor shops out of business. They cannot serve beer but only Chinese wine.

The colony's liquor shops have therefore petitioned the government to remove the 20-year-old rule which, they claim, is "spoiling our business."

NEWS FROM THE PARISH LIBRARY

With the end of summer vacation and the opening of school, a great change takes place in the reading habits of the patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. In fact the patrons change. There are some people who use the library only in the summer and there are others who use it only during the winter months, while the greatest number use it all year round. However, people are doing more serious reading now that the cooler days are here and the library has a number of books that should prove helpful and interesting.

"The Old Man and the Sea" is the title of the newest novel by Ernest Hemingway. It is hard to explain why the reading of this book is so profound an experience. It is short enough that it can be read in one evening. At the end you have known a hero, an old man who embodies the essential nobility in human striving; you have known another veritable hero, a giant fish who is the embodiment of what is noble in nature; for three days you have known another presence, vast, pervading but inanimate the world of the Gulf stream. You have lived through a great tragedy, but a tragedy which, at last, emerges without greed into beauty. You are likely to feel that you have been changed by what you have read and this is the test of a great book.

Another well-known author who has a new book this week is MacKinlay Kantor, whose latest work is "Warwhoop." It is composed of two short novels, the first of which is called "Behold the Brown-Faced Man." This is a romance of the Nebraska territory in 1864. The second tale "Missouri Moon" describes the sparse settlements of the Missouri River area immediately after the war of 1812. In both of these stories we find the horror of Indian warfare, the hardships of frontier life, but beautiful love stories.

Another novel dealing with the early history of our country is "Steamboat on the River" by Darwin Teilhet. The country was vast in the 1830's and almost the only roads were rivers. This is the thrilling story of the life of the steamboat men who risked everything on the chance to make their fortune. "High Bright Buggy Wheels" is a story of a Mennonite girl, Tillie Shantz and how she was able to reconcile her old and new beliefs. The author is Luella Creighton and she has done a splendid job.

"Gateway to Fortune" by Peter Bourne is the story of the building of the Panama Canal told from a fictional viewpoint. The hero is Wesley Adam, a young American surveyor. In this book we find international intrigue, power politics and titanic feats of engineering. This is a novel of men and women who play for high stakes in a raw and savage game. Woven through the story of politics and power is also a fascinating love story, which will make this book more interesting to read.

The Library makes a special effort to purchase books which will appeal to teen agers. There are two new titles for them this week; "Marcy Catches Up" by Rosamind du Jardin is a sequal to the popular "Wait for Marcy." This is a story of reality and warmth that will be in great demand. "Summer For Two" by Laura Cooper Rendina is an interesting story of summer life on Cape Cod and how it looked to two different girls.

"Ashes" by Charles Francis Coe is the story of a thoroughly selfish woman. She had beauty and wealth, but she wanted only power. How she accomplished this by completely wrecking the lives of three men, makes an exciting although not very pleasant story. Martha Albrand is a master in the art of writing stories of international intrigue. Her latest one is "The Hunted Woman." Wherever the dangerous shadows of international intrigue reach into the lives of the innocent, no one is safe and this is the story of many who had reason to fear. This is a powerful human novel of romance, adventure and suspense. It is too good to miss.

These are only a few of the new books waiting for you at the Ouachita Parish Public Library. If you are not a patron, why not register now?.

Elizabeth Anne Connaughton Bride Of James Woodrow Hearn

Noel Memorial Methodist Church In Shreveport Is Setting For Impressive Service

A ceremony of simplicity and dignity in Noel Memorial Methodist Church in Shreveport at three o'clock, Sunday, August 24, united in marriage Miss Elizabeth Anne Connaughton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Connaughton and James Woodrow Hearn, son of the Reverend and Mrs. John Elton Hearn, Sr. of Ruston, La.

The Reverend Mr. Hearn, father of the groom, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar lighted by a myriad of tapers and decorated with an arrangement of white mums and majestic daisies. Twin side arrangements of asters and majestic daisies complemented the central arrangement. Candles tied with white satin ribbon caught with asters were spaced across the altar.

Miss Ouida Ann Turnage presented a program of nuptial music as the candles were being lighted, and accompanied Mr. Pete Terracina as he sang "Through the Years" and Grieg's "I Love Thee." Debussy's "Clair De Lune" was played softly during the exchange of vows and the traditional wedding marches marked the processional and recessional.

The bridesmaids Miss Dorothy Seegers of Logansport, La., and Miss Bennie Jean Manor of El Dorado, Ark. were identically gowned in blush peach nylon tulle over satin. The matron-of-honor, Mrs. Roy E. Reed of Columbia, Missouri, was gowned identically as the bridesmaids. Miss Patricia Haliburton of El Dorado, Ark., the maid-of-honor, wore a gown fashioned as the bridesmaids but of sky blue. Their dresses had molded satin bodices with shoulder stoles of tulle and bouffant skirts of tulle. They all carried small colonial bouquets of talisman rosebuds surrounded by white asters.

Mr. A. M. Stewart of Jonesboro, La. served the Reverend Mr. Hearn as best man. The ushers were Charles R. Connaughton, brother of the bride, Drew Dobbins of Athens, La. and Roy E. Reed of Columbia, Missouri.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a gown of antique satin. The bodice was fashioned with long sleeves fastened at the wrists with small covered buttons and a V-shaped yoke of illusion encrusted with appliques of seed pearls and crystals. The skirt of unpressed pleats fell into a full cathedral train. Her double-tiered veil of imported illusion fell from a small juliet cap of satin decorated with seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book on which a white orchid and lilies of the valley were tied with white ribbon. Streamers caught with lilies of the valley fell from the arrangement. At the close of the ceremony Mr. Terracina sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Connaughton were hosts at a reception immediately afterward in the parlors of the church. Mrs. Connaughton greeted guests in a demi-length gown of charcoal grey shantung. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. John Elton Hearn, Sr., mother of the groom, chose a gown of grey lace. She too wore a white carnation corsage.

Presiding at the bride's guest book was Miss Arla Jo Knause. Miss Arnell West of Columbia, La., Miss Faye Hogan and Miss Mary Carol Jackson invited guests into the dining room. The bride's table, covered with a white cutwork cloth, bore the punch bowl at one end and the wedding cake at the other. The bridesmaids bouquets were placed in the center. Mrs. T. L. Armistead and Mrs. J. P. Knause alternated at the punch bowl and Miss Bert Hearn, cousin of the groom, served the cake. They were assisted in the serving by Miss Mary Ann Moe and Miss Ann Armistead.

Small bags of rice were passed among the guests to be scattered in the path of Reverend and Mrs. Hearn as they departed for Washington, D. C., and other points along the eastern coast. After their wedding trip they will be at home in Boston, Mass.

Old Recipe Contest

Old Louisiana recipes are just as much a part of our early culture as the duelling swords, the crinolines and the jewelry of the days before the War Between the States, Karl Dingeldein, chairman of the recipe contest committee for the 1952 Bayou Country Fair to be staged by St. Louis Cathedral Oct. 18, 19 and 20 for the benefit of the Cathedral school, has announced. Mr. Dingeldein has accordingly offered handsome pieces of silver from his Royal Street shop for the best recipes sent in, for the contest.

Anyone having such a recipe can take part in the contest regardless of whether they live in New Orleans or not, Mr. Dingeldein says. "We are especially interested in recipes for Louisiana fruits, pastries and gumboes, and if possible we would like a few words about them, how long were they used by your family? Did you come by them through your mother, an aunt, or did you marry into them?' he asks. Either way, the contest committee would like to have them. Be sure in submitting them that they are legibly written and carefully copied, as they will be tried out by chefs in New Orleans and sampled by a committee made up of representatives of various woman's organizations in New Orleans.

You can address your recipe to "Recipe Contest Committee, St. Louis Cathedral Rectory, Pere Antoine Alley, New Orleans, La., and they will be turned over to Mr. Dingeldein and his committee.

General chairman for the St. Louis Cathedral fair committee this year is Robert E. Elliott.

Girl Scout News

The time has come to talk, not of shoes and ships and sealing wax, but of school and Scouting; the two go hand in hand in the thinking of girls and adults alike as they swing into their fall schedule and make room for their various interests. Even though it is a bit hard at first, after a summer of relaxation, most of us are glad to get into the groove again. And the cool mornings and evenings help no end, don't they?

New school buildings, a new teacher, new and old friends, maybe all new for a girl who has moved. How important it is for a girl to be able to go into a Scout troop with her friends at the start of the school year! If more grownups would try doing some Scouting they would be able to see what it means to the girls — and to themselves, for that matter. Hundreds of girls in the Twin Cities would love Scouting, but are deprived of it because no grown-up will be the leader.

Troop 14 has the right idea for starting off with a bang. Taking advantage of their last opportunity for a midweek camp. The girls with leaders Mary Turner and Ethel Easterling went to Girl Scout camp Tuesday morning for a 24 hour stay. It turned out to be a reunion after all the girls had returned from various camps and other vacation activities. You can miagine the gab-fest that ensued.

For cooking, the girls tried their hand at meat-and-potatoes cooked in foil over coals. For breakfast, breadtwists—that is, biscuit dough on sticks, is always a favorite. It was a new trick to some of these girls, too.

A trip to the Linville fire tower, where the girls got a thrill out of climbing the tower, half afraid to look down, was a highlight of Wednesday morning. To plan for the fall and winter work of the troop, what could be a nicer place than camp to sit down together with no distractions to choose badge work and service activities? This is exactly what Troop 14 did, consulting their handbooks for ideas, and everybody putting in her nickel's worth in the good ole Girl Scout democratic way. Didn't hear details the girls agreed upon, except that child care was one of the badges.

Leader Ethel spent six weeks as unit leader at Camp Wawbansee, the Shreveport Girl Scout camp this summer. We suspect she has more camping tricks than ever up her sleeve. Naturally, the troop is always ready to try them out.

Mothers of the girls of Troop 10, 14, and 11 have had meetings in order to discuss plans and programs of their daughters' troops and how mother can help. We predict heaps of success for troops with this kind of interest and backing from the parents.

With the swimming pool closing today, it seems that any talk of swimming is completely out of season. However, the Scout office is mailing out the Red Cross certificates earned by the girls in swimming and lifesaving classes in June. Not every girl who participated earned a certificate but some 35 of the 125 girls did, and they'll receive them in the mail tomorrow if they didn't get them yesterday.

DADDY AND HIS LITTLE GIRL

Today, My Daughter Is 7 Years Old–

She started to school as usual. She wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker spaniel whose name is Soot had whined his canine belief in the folly of education as she waved goodbye and started off to the hall of learning

Tonight, We Talked About School–

She told me about the girl who sits in front of her, the girl with the yellow curls, and the boy across the aisle who makes funny faces. She told me about her teacher, who has eyes in the back of her head, and the trees in the schoolyard, and about the girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things – tremendously vital, unimportant things, and then we studied spelling, reading, arithmetic and then to bed

She's Back There Now–

Back in the nursery, sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's her doll) cuddled in her arms

You Guys Wouldn't Hurt Her, Would You?

You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken, or her finger is cut, or her head gets bumped, I can fix it – but when she starts to school, when she walks across the street. she's in your hands

She's A Nice Kid–

She can run like a deer and dart about like a chipmunk. She likes to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoons. But I can't be with her all the time. I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So–please help me look out for her. Please drive slowly past the schools and intersections – please remember that kids run out from behind parked cars——

Please–Don't Run Over My Little Girl

Garden Information

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — The gardener who is planting carnations or nursing along a pansy bed or pruning a dogwood tree this spring is working on the same sort of plants his colonial ancestors grew two and three hundred years ago. This is revealed by the book, "Plants of Colonial Days: A Guide to 160 Flowers, Shrubs and Trees in the Gardens of Colonial Williamsburg." Written by botanist Raymond L. Taylor, "Plants of Colonial Days" has just been published by Colonial Williamsburg.

Dr. Taylor lists the plants now used as ornamentals in the gardens of the reconstructed colonial city here. These gardens were recreated in their eighteenth century form after painstaking research into the types of plants then used.

Although today's gardener has many more varieties of plants to choose from than his eighteenth century forebears, he still cultivates more than three-fourths of the colonial favorites Dr. Taylor describes. The nasturtiums, the French and African marigolds, the daffodils, hyacinths, lilacs, lilies of the valley, tulips, magnolias and snowballs that flourish outside of twentieth - century homes are all direct descendants of plants that grew in eighteenth century gardens.

Seeds or bulbs for many of the plants were originally brought here by colonists from England. Such flowers as the blue iris, calendula, China aster, crocus and hollyhock were tenderly planted by the settlers in the new world as reminders of home. Other plants, such as blue phlox, columbine, flame azalea, honey locust and hydrangea were native to this continent.

Only about thirty of the plants which Dr. Taylor lists are no longer usually cultivated outside of restored Williamsburg. Some of these, like types of roses, have been replaced by better varieties; some have been killed off by blights; some have just lost favor and been permitted to die out.

FEATURING LATE MODEL SPINETTE

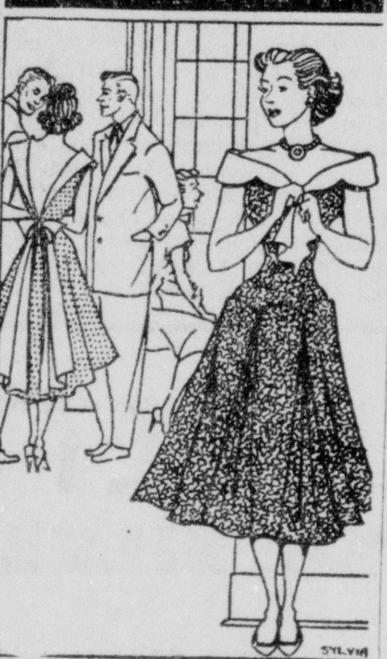
don't DO that!



DON'T HANG BACK . . . It is the obligation of a guest to enter into the conversation and try to be entertaining. A wallflower is a worry to every hostess.

STRENGTHENED

MANILA, (AP)—The Philippines Army has strengthened one of its weak links in fighting rebel Huks and bandits infesting the nation's many islands.

It recently completed a modern communications network, linking Camp Murphy headquarters by radio, telephone and teletype with military units throughout the country.

Some of the new equipment was provided by the United States under its mutual defense assistance program .

NEW SPINETTE NOW FEATURED

Provides Needed Music For Home; Price Called Moderate

The importance of music as an essential part of the well-founded home has been recognized widely for many years. Radios, phonographs and TV sets all contribute their share in bringing music to the home. But, the important element of "self-expression" finds complete fulfillment in today's electric organ with its many orchestral tonal effects and creative music possibilities.

Roark Music Company, 703 Jackson St., Monroe, announces that a new organ, the Wurlitzer Spinette, designed specially to fulfill every musical requirement of the home, will shortly be available to the people of this area and on display at their store. An electric organ, the Spinette, is priced easily within the bounds of the average income and becomes another Wurlitzer musical contribution to finer living.

In the recent national convention of American musical merchants, the new Wurlitzer Spinette Organ was the outstanding stellar attraction. In its formal introduction, Milton Cross, well-known musical commentator, acted as narrator while Dick Leibert of Radio City Music Hall fame, demonstrated its depth and beauty of tone, its power, its sensitive and incredible fluent action and other exclusive features.

There can be little question that the organ as a musical instrument stands alone and knows no musical peer. No other instrument provides the wealth of orchestral voices nor the opportunity for creative expression which can be discovered when playing at the console.

A new world of music is open to the player. He can call upon and combine almost endless tonalities for symphonic effects and rich solo voices — achieve a new zenith in his musical world.

In years gone by, the high cost and space requirements of an organ for home installation have been the prohibitive factors to broad, general use.

Darn on the right side of a material so you can see how well you are blending the darn into the fabric.

Over 160 Allied Warships Begin War Games Next Week Off Scandinavia

Serves As Warning That Even Arctic Circle Will Be Defended

OSLO, Norway (AP) — More than 160 Allied warships including eight big aircraft carriers begin maneuvers off Scandinavia next week, warning Russia that the West is ready to defend the seas even up to the Arctic Circle.

Officially known as "Operation Mainbrace," the 13-day war games will be one of the largest displays of Allied naval might since World War II.

The ostensible purpose of the vast, eight-nation exercise is to give the participating navies an opportunity to co-operate in maneuvers with their North Atlantic Treaty partners.

Military sources said, however, that the games could have two highly important psychological effects:

1. Demonstrate to Norway, Denmark and little Iceland that they can and will be defended, that they are an integral part of NATO and not just an appendage to an organization centered in Europe's vital midsection.

2. Serve notice on Soviet Russia that the Western Allies are fully prepared to resist attack anywhere, even in Arctic waters.

Allied headquarters for Northern Europe, located here in Oslo, announced today that the NATO task force will assemble off Scotland Monday and Tuesday.

The actual maneuvers will begin Saturday, Sept. 13, under the command of Britain's Adm. Sir Patrick Brind commander in chief of Allied forces in Northern Europe. They will end Sept. 25.

Participating will be ships and planes from the United States, Britain, Canada, Norway, Denmark, France, The Netherlands and Belgium. The fleet will range from battleships like the 45,000-ton USS Wisconsin and Britain's 42,400-ton Vanguard down to small but vital minesweepers.

Eight large carriers from the United States, Britain and Canada will provide the task force's aerial punch. They include two American 45,000-tonners, the Midway and the Franklin D. Roosevelt, and two small U. S. flattops, the 27,110-ton Wasp and the 14,500-ton Wright. Britain is sending three carriers as well as many other types of ships.

The Soviet press has, in recent weeks, laid down a heavy campaign against "Mainbrace," describing it as a deliberate provocation.

The Russians are showing more than psychological interest in the naval operations. Danish naval authorities late last month told a number of East German and Polish ships to get out of the port of Frederikshavn — one of the centers of the maneuvers.

A Danish Admiralty official said the Communist commanders 'showed a marked and curious interest' in the exercise area.

Seven Russian fishing trawlers anchored Tuesday night off the Danish Faeroe Islands, 400 miles west of Norway. A Danish Admiralty spokesman commented that it "might be the traditional appearance of Russian fishing vessels in waters where the Western navies are staging maneuvers."

BETTER THAN COCONUTS—Zuma, left, and Bongo enjoy a tasty bottle of specially-prepared coconut milk as they are fed by Arusimo Bronzini, director of the Rome Municipal Zoo. The baby gorillas are believed to be the first to be shipped to a European zoo since the end of World War II Born in the French Congo, the simian infants were purchased for $4800. They'll soon be too heavy to sit on Bronzini's lap.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By the calendar it's September;-by our time it is once again "Little Theatre Time"—Welcome back all of you wonderful Theatre folks for another gala season of drama a la Little Theatre of Monroe. Afthe long vacation of summer and with the coming of the first tinge of fall in the air, there are stirrings out at the Selman Field playhouse. They are rolling up sleeves, raising much dust and lots of expectations for the twenty - first year of theatre work in the Twin Cities.

With two important topics on the opening agenda, lets take up the matter of membership first. The last count showed that we have reached the three quarter mark. If membership registration continues at the present rate, this will be the first year that we have reached our maximum before the first play and there will not be any memberships available at the boxoffice. It is membership chairman Clark Boardman's hope that all members are signed up by the Playbill printing deadline, which is October 1st. Checks for membership should be made payable to The Little Theatre of Monroe and you can mail them to Little Theatre, Post Office box 868, Monroe, La.

FIRST PLAY — We are slated to enjoy for the first play this year, the hilarious comedy "Room Service," hit of the New York stage for three years and also a popular movie starring the Marx Brothers. It has toured America on several occasions and has been a Little Theatre favorite as long as it has been available. Our director Stocker Fontelieu, with his usual optomism, is starting the season with a spirit of energy — this play has a cast of fourteen — pass the bromides, while I end this bit of reporting by telling you that the cast is two women and twelve men —Tryouts will be next Wednesday and Friday evenings, 8 p. m. at the Selman Field playhouse.

Who's Who of Vacation Time—There has been a three months gap, in our news, so let's catch up on the Little Theatre members who enjoyed far away spots this summer. . . . Mrs. Carl McHenry has just returned from a tour of Europe with her daughter, Mary Wilton. . . . Mrs. A. L. Harrington is still touring Europe. . . . Garland Shell recently arrived back on the 'ole familiar scene from a Carribbean cruise. . . . The Dick Troys had a car load of family on a three weeks trip to California and the golden west. . . . Dorothy Elmendorf was absent from "Red" Willett and Co. for two weeks while she saw the Grand Canyon and other points of interest. . . . Beth Breese and children are just back from a visit to the family plantation in Georgia. . . . Betty Roddy saw New York. . . . Yvonne Brett came home with a beautiful suntan from the Texas coast. . . . Jackie Voorhees went veddy, veddy British and vacationed in Nassau. . . . Our beautiful leading lady from last year's opening production "Abie's Irish Rose," Barbara "Miss Louisiana" Barker is right this minute in Atlantic City and we hope that by the time you read this she will be Miss America. . . . Gee! It's fun to be back, and we will be gossiping with you every Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday.

'ISLE OF DESIRE' TO SHOW HERE

Two Stalwart Men, One Beautiful Woman Marooned On Island

If there is a more exotic theme than that of a castaway on a desert island, or a more titilating one than the romantic triangle, it has not yet been invented. Put the two together, and you have the ingredients for dramatic dynamite.

This is exactly what has been done in "Island of Desire," new United Artists release which opens on Wednesday at the Paramount. A. David E. Rose production in Technicolor, "Island of Desire" was shot in its entirety on the beautiful and wild north coast of Jamaica, British West Indies, with gorgeous Linda Darnell, Donald Gray, handsome British star, and Tab Hunter, blond, 21 - year - old film discovery and bobby-sox idol, the chief portagonists.

Adapted from the best - selling novel by Hugh Brooke, "Island of Desire" tells the exiciting and romantic story of the conflict between a Navy nurse, a British flier and an American Marine corporal who are stranded on an uninhabited island in the Pacific. Stuart Heisler directed the film, from a script by Stephanie Nordli. The supporting cast includes Russell Waters, John Laurie, Sheila Chong, Hilda Fenemore, Brenda Hogan and Peggy Hassard.

Jamaica was a natural for the Technicolor cameras. Known as one of the most beautiful tourist spots in the world, it combines a breathtaking seascape with a background of mountains, and a remarkable landscape that varies from jagged rock to smooth green fields, with an infinite variety of flowers and trees. The northern coast, where the picture's crew did most of its shooting, is wild and untouched, and served as a perfect replica of a bountiful desert island paradise.

One of the important sequences in "Island of Desire" involves a hurricane. It was not made by the usual Hollywood device — a wind-machine. It is the real thing. The crew was preparing to photograph the hurricane sequence when Radio Jamaica warned of the approach of an actual one. Director Heisler set up his cameras, and when the big blow struck, he was ready for it. As a result, "Island of Desire" will be the first feature film ever to have incorporated a real hurricane. Fortunately, the north coast, where the company was shooting, did not receive the full force of the blow. But the south shore did. The town of Morant Bay was wiped out and Kingston — capital of Jamaica — was devastated.

One of the most unusual features of "Island of Desire" is a fist fight between Donald Gray and Tab Hunter — a fight which will probably go down in movie history along with such meorable film combats as those in "The Spoilers" and in "Tol'able David." In "Island of Desire," the fight is between a one-armed man and another who puts his left hand behind his back in order to even the odds.

ON 'ISLAND OF DESIRE'

Linda Darnell and Tab Hunter, shown above, go "Crusoe" one better in "Island of Desire". It is the story of two men and a girl marooned on an island and prove that life is just what the doctor ordered. "Island of Desire" opens a four-day engagement at the Paramount Wednesday.

ITALIAN LUXURY

ROME, (AP)—Chocolate in Italy is a luxury item, because heavy taxes make chocolate expensive. The average yearly chocolate consumption per Italian is only about two thirds of a pound. There is an 80-cent tax on every 2.2 lbs. of chocolate.

The highest consumers of chocolate in Europe, according to official figures here, are the Swiss, who consume an average of 11 pounds each per year.

OPENS THURSDAY AT THE JOY

PARAMOUNT TO SHOW TRIANGLE

George Stevens' "Something to Live For," the Paramount picture which opens today at the Paramount theater, looms as one of the most important events of the current film season. The brilliant producer - director's first screen drama since the memorable Academy Award contender, "A Place In the Sun," this arresting love story boasts three top-flight stars—Joan Fontaine, Ray Milland and Teresa Wright—and a strong supporting cast.

The two annual citations for excellence which mean the most in Hollywood are the Academy Oscar and the New York Film Critics Award. Members of the "Something to Live For" company have earned more than their share of both. Stevens was chosen best director of 1943 by the Film Critics for his handling of "The More the Merrier." Miss Fontaine won both of 1941's big "bests" for her performance in "Suspicion." Milland similarly swept the field in 1946 with his portrayal in Paramount's "The Lost Weekend," and Miss Wright's supporting role in "Mrs. Minniver" garnered a 1943 Oscar. "Something to Live For" cameraman George Barnes also got the Academy's nod with his filming of "Rebecca."

In the forthcoming Stevens' production, this unusual line - up of award winners lends its talent to an unusual and frank drama bout a beautiful and talented actress whose addiction to drink plagues her career, shatters another woman's marriage and drives the man she loves to a tormenting dilemma. With Miss Fontaine cast as the alcoholic, Milland playing the reformed lush seeking to save her, and Miss Wright portraying his wife, "Something To Live For" sensitively traces the anguish and ecstasy of three people desperately seeking love and fulfillment.

As in "A Place in the Sun" Stevens has stocked his drama with frank love scenes that solidly underscore an absorbing romantic triangle, and the Dwight Taylor screenplay penetratingly probes the vital, but seldom - discussed, problems of modern marriage. Richard Derr, Douglas Dick and Richard Heyes head the supporting cast.

AUDIE IN 'DUEL AT SILVER CREEK'

A top - action cast, headed by Audie Murphy, Faith Domergue and Stephen McNally, brings a new saga of the settling of the West to the screen in Universal-International's Technicolor "The Duel at Silver Creek," which opens Thursday at the Joy Theater.

"The Duel at Silver Creek," directed by Don Siegel and produced by Leonard Goldstein, tells the exciting story of the fight waged by law and order against the nefarious gangs of claim jumpers who killed and plundered in their greedy quest for valuable mining sites.

For the first time in his increasingly successful screen career popular Audie Murphy gets the girl. The lovely brunette who goes to Audie in the film's fadeout is Susan Cabot, cast in an important supporting role to Audie, Faith Domergue and Stephen McNally.

Murphy plays the role of The Silver Kid who is as fast with the cards as with the six - shooter. Audie turns in an acting job which, in addition to marking him as one of the screen's best strong silent men, augurs well for a continued position of prominence in the stellar ranks.

"The Duel at Silver Creek" concerns a crusading Marshal who deputizes The Silver Kid after being wounded in his fight against a gang of claim jumpers, finds Stephen McNally in the role of Lightning Tyrone, the two - fisted range officer. McNally who has played in comparatively few Westerns becomes one of the most rugged he-men on the screen as the result of his outstanding performance in "The Duel at Silver Creek." But he is not in the tradition of the Western hero who never kisses the girl. He shares a torrid romance with Faith Domergue whose striking beauty is further enhanced by the Technicolor cameras.

TECH STAFF IS BEING EXPANDED

Increased Enrollment Calls For Larger Number Of Instructors

RUSTON, Sept. 7.—(Special)—Because of an increase in enrollment, the instructional staff of the U. S. Air Force R. O. T. C. at Louisiana Tech has been expanded to include seven officers and seven airmen, for the fall semester starting on Monday, Sept. 15.

Lt. Col. Ernest L. Kerr of San Antonio, who has succeeded Lt. Col. William F. Curry as commander of the Tech unit, estimates that registrants for R. O. T. C. training at Tech this fall will be about 750, of whom 330 will be freshmen. Colonel Curry, who has been transferred to Columbia University, was in charge of activating the Tech corps in 1949, with an enrollment of 110 trainees and a staff of three officers and three airmen.

The present R. O. T. C. staff of 14 includes three new officers, besides Colonel Kerr, and three new airmen. The new officers are as follows:

Capt. C. C. Williams, a native of Jasper, Tex., who will be in charge of freshmen R. O. T. C. students. Captain Williams received a B. S. degree from Stephen F. Austin College and a master of education degree from the University of Texas. During World War II, he was stationed at Ellington Field, Houston; Santa Barbara, Calif., and Lexington, Va. Separated from the service in 1945, Captain Williams was for the next six years a training and placement specialist in orthopedic work at the veterans' administration hospital at Waco, Tex. He returned to the service in February, 1951, and came to Louisiana Tech from Maxwell Field. Captain and Mrs. Williams are parents of a son and a daughter.

Lt. H. S. Martin, a native of Greenwood, La., who moved to Greenville, Tex., early in life, will be connected with advanced courses as an armament instructor. Lieutenant Martin is a graduate of the Jefferson (Tex.) high school and a former student of Southwest Texas State College at San Marcus. He entered service in 1940 and served in Puerto Rico. Returning to the states in 1943, he engaged in cadet training in Alabama, Georgia and Florida. He was separated from the service in 1945 and returned to active duty in September, 1948. After attending service schools for armament officers at Lowrey Field, Denver, and Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss., he served in Korea from August, 1950 until 1952. He came to Tech from a tour of duty at Forbes AFB in Kansas. Lieutenant and Mrs. Martin have one son.

Lt. Robert L. Hamilton, a native of West Virginia, will assist in training the freshman R. O. T. C. students. He graduated from the University of West Virginia in 1949. During World War II, he served as a flight engineer on B-17's in the European theater of operations. He came to Tech from March A. F. B., Riverside, Calif. Lieutenant Hamilton is unmarried.

The three new airmen on the R. O. T. C. staff are M-Sgt. Charles E. Miller, from Sandia AFB, Albuquerque, N. M.; T-Sgt. William E. Wicker, from Wright - Patterson Field, Dayton, O., and Sgt. Major Bruce Baxter, from Warner Robbins Field, Macon, Ga.

Officers continuing their work with the Tech unit are Maj. Thomas H. Nickerson, Maj. Ben M. Terry and Capt. Leo E. Cline. Airmen continuing in the R. O. T. C. here are Sgt. W. L. Fletcher, Sgt. Harold Griffing, Sgt. O. V. Newman and Sgt. John H. Poncio.

SEARS ENTERING ITS 66TH YEAR

Employes Here Will Observe Birthday With Special Sales Event

With their company entering its 66th year of business, employes of the Sears, Roebuck and Co. retail store in Monroe will observe the birthday with a special sales event from Thursday, September 11, through Saturday, September 20th.

"Our store here is joining its more than 670 sister stores in the nationwide Sears family in holding this nine-day event," C. D. McAdams, Sears local manager, explained.

"The year '52 marks not only the 66th anniversary of the founding of Sears, but also the 27th anniversary of the company's entry into the retail field, and the 15th anniversary of the coming of Sears into this community," he added.

Preparations for the anniversary event have involved months of preliminary work including the purchasing of millions of dollars worth of special merchandise, it was pointed out.

With arrangements for the sale virtually completed, local employees are turning their attention to getting ready for the intense competition among thousands of their fellow Searsites from coast to coast for achievement awards. This year more than 1300 major awards will be given out.

Along with the national rivalry, Sears, Roebuck and Co. employes here have planned some lively intra-store competition based on the timely theme of an election campaign.

Employes have been divided into two "sales parties" — each with its own "sales planks" — which will "campaign" during the anniversary event. The winning party will be determined at the end on the basis of sales rather than the conventional ballots.

Amont the veteran local employes who are handling important assignments in Sears 66th anniversary sale are: T. A. Breard, division manager of rug department, 15 years of service with Sears; Mrs. Nannie Gossett, head N. C. R. cashier of credit department, 15 years service; W. E. Sisson, division manager of men's department, 15 years of service; Tristem Tyler, manager of tire department, 13 years service; William Smith, manager of plumbing department, 11 years service; Mrs. Gertrude Massey, manager of linen department; nine years service; Earl H. Vigg, manager of auto accessories department, nine years service; J. U. Crotwell, Jr., manager of furniture department, 13 years service; Ruby Soureal, manager of lingerie department, nine years service; Mrs. Annie Morgan, marking room manager, eight years service; Mrs. Hazel Taylor, head chasier, six years service, and Roy T. Dahl, manager of the boy's department, seven years of service.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married for 15 years and, although I have a fine wife, I want to be free. We have worked hard to own our home and car. We have a good income, I belong to various clubs, like to play golf and want to feel free to go where I want, when I want, without worrying about my wife waiting at home for me. We fell out of love a long time ago and I don't see any reason to go on like this. There is no one else. Why is it in life we have to hurt the ones we love?

TIM

ANSWER: If you succeed in your plan to shed a devoted wife, you will be hurting yourself far more than you will hurt her. You are assuming that she isn't in love with you any longer, and I think you are making a like assumption about your own feelings, in order to gratify a desire for freedom that is, I assure you, nothing more than temporary.

YOU WON'T BE HAPPY

You place much importance on lessening your responsibilities (which seem very small). Let me tell you, the day you face the world without responsibility or obligation will be the saddest one of your life. It's a tragic fact that many people are actually resentful of responsibility yet, when they are faced with the loneliness that complete freedom brings, they rail to high heaven. Make no mistake about it, responsibilities toward other human beings are the greatest blessings God sends us.

What you aim to do, Tim, is replace the ministrations and love of a devoted, considerate wife with the conviviality of golf companions. My, but you're in for a letdown! When you have to depend on these men for solace in time of trouble, care in time of sickness, or comfort in time of fatigue, you'll look a long time. They are not going to break—or even strain—their own family ties to match your unlimited freedom, so there will be plenty of lonely hours for you, my son. There are far worse things than a lovely wife waiting home for you at night. And why keep her waiting every night? How about taking her along on an occasional jaunt?

Think this matter over very carefully, Tim, before you come to a rash decision. You won't care for the free life very long; it can become most palling.

DEAR MISS DIX: I come from a large family and my parents are very strict. I am 18 years old and have to be in nights at 12. Also, I have to save most of my money so I have little for clothes. Nine months ago I met a sailor who is 19. I wrote to him, and in all his letters he said he loved me and wanted to marry me. He came home two weeks ago and I saw him for a few hours. Again he talked of marriage. But since then I haven't seen him. Should I write and ask why he hasn't been in touch with me?

B. J.

ANSWER: Your first set of worries, about your treatment at home, are not altogether just. Midnight is a fair curfew for a girl of 18, and the fact that you are expected to save money is good training for later life. Learn to make your clothes, and they won't cost so much.

As for the boy, you have been rather overwhelmed by a uniform. He, I am sorry to say, is not a very serious type, and best forgotten.

DEAR MISS DIX: I had an affair with my secretary which ended in a very public blow-up. My wife stuck by me loyally when I needed her. She saved me a great deal of trouble, but I can feel the change in her now. How can I convince her that I am truly sorry for the episode?

MR. PHILANDERER

ANSWER: When will callous man ever realize that a wife's heart can be broken by these extra-marital romances they dismiss so easily, and that a broken heart is not easily mended? You had an affair that ended rather disastrously for you and so, as far as you are concerned, the matter should end. You don't deserve the fine wife you have, and a lifetime of abject devotion wouldn't begin to pay for her loyalty. It's up to you to discover how you can convince her of your love, and you'd better make it very convincing!

DOROTHY DIX discusses the pros and cons of divorce and legal separation in leaflet D-2, "Divorce." To obtain a copy, send a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Dix, c/o this newspaper.

Scout Meet Will Plan '53 Jamboree

Ouachita Valley Council No. 213, Boy Scouts of America, will initiate plans for the third National Jamboree which will be held in July of next year, and a meeting to make plans is slated for the cameo room of Hotel Virginia, September 9 at 7:30 p. m.

At this important meeting, the method of transportation, fees, equipment to be used, leadership selection, promotion and other details to be submitted to the executive board will be considered.

The Ouachita Valley Council did an outstanding job in the 1950 jamboree. The impact of the success of the 1950 event has aroused the interest of today's boys and leaders. To make 1953 another successful highlight in Scouting, help is required in planning and the meeting on Tuesday night is of importance.

Dull-finished, rough-woven center buttons will be a handsome accent to this season's poodle clothes, tweeds and other wool fabrics.

CLAIBORNE METHODIST CHURCH

Calhoun Road

F. L. Hearne, pastor

J. O. Fleming, church school superintendent

San Francisco was devastated by earthquake and fire. It was a desolation indeed. Now that fine city, rebuilt on the old foundations, is one of the proudest instances we have of pluck and prowess. Not by laments and repining, but by steady, resolute effort and expectant faith the work was carried through. So when our hopes are destroyed, our plans ruined, like Job, we may still have faith in God. Such faith can remove mountains.

Services at our church are:

Sunday: Church school, 9:45 a. m.

Morning worship, 10:50 a. m.

Youth fellowship, 6:00 p. m.

Children's hour, 6:30 p. m.

Evening worship service, 7:30 p. m.

Monday: Woman's Society of Christian service, 2:00 p. m.

Tuesday: Methodist Men, 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday: Mid - week service, 7:30 p. m.

The gospel is something that is full of importance and information, and is associated with our present and eternal welfare. It enters into all the ramifications of life where we can understand it. It is not a sing-song sort of a thing, but there is something tangible about it. It consists of eternal principles, unfolding light and intelligence, and is adapted to the nature of man as a mortal and immortal being--principles that affect us in time and in eternity, in life, in health, in sickness, in death, and which lead to life everlasting.

—John Taylor, Third President of the church.

Bible Words to Live by

PSALM 136 — "We sat down by the streams of Babylon and wept there, remembering Sion."

I've liked the Latin cadence of this opening — Super Flumina Babylonis — for the past 30 years. The Jews were in exile and so are we.

"Willow trees grow there, and on these we hung up our harps . . . . ."

Every time I see a willow tree I see this picture of sad mankind, and me among them, in exile from Heaven.

The exiled Jews were taunted. They said, "Jerusalem, if I forget thee, perish the skill of my right hand. Let my tongue stick fast to the roof of my mouth if I cease to remember thee, if I find in aught but Jerusalem the fountain head of my content!"

Those things usually happen to people who are content with the world. That we have not here a lasting home is one of the toughest lessons to learn.

St. Paul

Bible Comment

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The answer to the question: "Was King David of Israel saint or sinner?" is, obviously, that he was both.

That David was a sinner is certainly obvious. The adulterous affair with Bathsheba was sordid enough. It involved also the virtual murder of Uriah in getting rid of her wronged husband.

And that involvement with Bathsheba, despite the "glory of Solomon" as a child of that union, has sordid and tragic consequences. There was violence and tragedy in the family of David, apart from the ultimate tragedy of the rebellion on the death of Solomon, and the division of the kingdom.

Bathsheba apparently had no responsibility for the rebellion of Absolom against his father, nor does she seem to have been responsible for Absolom's murder of his half-brother Amnon, in revenge for the latter's dishonoring of Absolom's sister, Tamar. But there were evidently intrigues at court and in the family, in which Bathsheba was involved.

She seems to have been responsible for the killing of Adonijah, who after the death of Absolom was the rightful heir to the throne (I Kings 2:15). She seems to have planned Adonijah's death, or at least to have consented to it to make sure of her son Solomon's ascendancy.

If some of the earlier Psalms attributed to David were actually written by him, they show a sincerely worshipful spirit and a zeal for righteousness as well as contrition.

Only a man with a deeply reverential and worshipful feeling could have poured out on the ground as an oblation to the Lord, the water from the well of Bethlehem which three of his mighty men risked their lives to bring him (II Samuel 23:13-17).

A casual wish for a drink from the well of his boyhood, such as anybody might have expressed on a hot day, sent these three loyal followers, unknown to David, upon that dangerous mission. He was appalled with deep humility at their deed. The water was as their very life-blood, and he could think of it only as something holy.

The other greatly noble aspect of David is in his attitude toward the prophet Nathan who, with great boldness and courage, brought home to him his sin, "thou art the man!" (II Samuel 12:7).

These and similar incidents reveal the dual character of David and the goodness dominant over the evil. That a warrior and "man of blood" should have had such elements of goodness and gentleness does not mark him as exceptional. Nelson, Britain's indomitable, fighting admiral would encourage a timid midshipman by racing him to the top of the masthead, and showing him there was nothing to fear.

Though no evil such as was in David stained their lives, Lincoln and Lee who bore beyond others the tragedy of the Civil War, were men of inherent goodness and gentleness. So, in David, despite his sin, was a fineness of quality that underlies his place in history and religion.

BAPTISTS OPEN KINDERGARTEN

Friday Registration Day And Capacity Of 35 Is Nearly Approached

Last Friday was registration day for the new kindergarten of the First Baptist Church of West Monroe. Thirty youngsters were enrolled and the capacity of thirty-five is expected to be reached Monday when the first day of school will be held.

Mrs. Lois White who for several years conducted a kindergarten for the government is principal of the school and will be assisted by Mrs. James Henderson who is experienced in elementary education.

It has been pointed out by the pastor, Rev. Jaroy Weber, that registrations are limited this year but plans are under way for a much larger enrollment next year when the demand is expected to increase. He pointed out that the ages being accepted are four and five. The course of study is that prescribed by the state and the school meets on the same days as the public schools, observing the same holidays.

Mrs. White suggests that parents interested in enrolling their youngsters after Christmas should get in touch with her now. The school is located on the church property at 407 Clayton St., West Monroe.

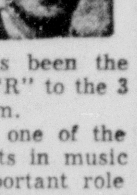
WOMAN GETS EMBASSY POST

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—A young Vietnamese woman is going to be the first secretary of the newly established embassy of Vietnam in Washington.

She is Miss Elisabeth Nguyen Xuan Dung, who holds a diploma from the University of London and is a resident of Saigon.

Tran Van Kha, Vietnam's first ambassador to Washington, in announcing her appointment here pointed out this recognizes the increasing role women are playing in Vietnamese governmental affairs.

A HAPPY NOTE OR TWO



Education has experienced a major transformation in the last few decades. What with progressive education and all. But perhaps one of the most important changes has been the addition of another "R" to the 3 R's—"R" for rhythm.

Since rhythm is one of the fundamental elements in music it plays a very important role in the musical development of a child. Certainly, rhythm is not new to a child. He hears it in nature, in the home, and on the street . . . drip, drip of the rain . . tick-tock of the clock . . ting-a-ling of the bells on the ice cream truck. At a very early age the child is developing an awareness of tone quality, pitch, and volume by listening and imitating sounds about him.

Realizing that children are virtually bubbling over with a desire for musical expression, the teachers in our modern schools provide the child with many opportunities for rhythmic expression. As early as kindergarten age the child is encouraged, stimulated and guided to express himself spontaneously and creatively through songs, dances, dramatization, and rhythm and melody instruments. Educationally, the values of such training are great. Through active doing and attentive listening the child grows in musical discrimination and knowledge, which aid in the physical, mental, emotional, and social growth of the child.

School time is music time. Remember that Hewitt's has the finest and most complete selection of pianos. Come in at your earliest convenience. HEWITT'S, INC., 216 Grammont, Phone 2-1491.

The Southside Methodist Church located at South 4th and Wilson St. was organized July 13th, 1952. The Ground Breaking Ceremony was held July 27th on the lot purchased by the First Methodist Church last year under the leadership of Dr. A. M. Serex. Construction of the new building began August 4th under the Supervision of W. C. Salley Construction Co. The Architect was W. L. Salley. The membership of the Southside Church is deeply grateful for the helpfulness and kindness shown by Mr. Salley through these days. After 16 carpenter days a beautiful brick veneer building 40x60 feet is ready for occupation and complete operation.

To date there are 161 members of this church; the Sunday School is organized with a staff of 31 workers and on the first Sunday 90 pupils registered. The Choir is organized and they have an average of 14 at each rehearsal. The W. S. C. S. has twelve active members. The necessary organization for full operation is effected. The Commission on Evangelism, Education, Missions and Finance have met and elected the necessary officers. The Board of Stewards, The Board of Trustees, and The Building committee have worked together in a wonderful way from the beginning and still are eager to "go forward" with the work. The spirit of cooperation and helpfulness of the people in this section of the city as well as many, many people and business firms through the Twin Cities is beyond all expectations. THANKS TO EACH AND EVERYONE THAT HAS HAD ANY PART IN THIS GREAT WORK.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

When You Lose Weight, Don't Lose Health, Too

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Even though you are not well informed about nutrition and eat in a hit-and-miss manner which cannot be called scientific, you will usually get a fair amount of the nutritional essentials if you eat a variety of foods.

Your health may not be as good as it could have been and you will probably age sooner than you need have done, but you are not apt to be a victim of any deficiency diseases.

However when you cut your food intake low as you do when dieting, lack of information about nutrition becomes downright dangerous. In a restricted diet you do not have the opportunity to stumble upon essential foods.

It is amazing how women cling to some of the worn out ideas of reducing. They leave sugar out of their coffee but eat gravy. They wouldn't touch a potato on a bet but load their salads with mayonnaise or consume fried foods. Judging by the letters I receive and the conversations I overhear in public places and at social gatherings I cannot repeat too often the essential foods when reducing. Here they are again.

1. At least a pint of skimmed milk or buttermilk.
2. At least one helping of lean meat or fish or fowl. Many of the best reducing diets prescribe two servings of meat daily.
3. One large glass of tomato or orange juice.
4. A baked potato frequently.
5. Two green or yellow vegetables or one vegetable and a green salad.
6. Three peices of whole wheat bread or the equivalent in cereal.
7. Some fresh fruit.
8. At least 5 eggs a week.

Items to Avoid When Reducing

1. Cream.
2. Candy and soda fountain mixtures and soda pop.
3. Rich desserts such as pastry or cake. Substitute fresh fruit.
4. Fried foods. Boil, bake, or broil meats. Boil, bake, or poach your eggs.
5. Salad oils and dressings. Lemon juice, with a touch of onion or garlic can be used on salads.
6. Nuts and canapes, and between-meal snacks of all sorts. Eat fresh fruit, drink fruit juice or buttermilk between meals when you feel hungry.

Take smaller helpings and leave off seconds. Get up from the table feeling as though you could enjoy a little more. Never allow yourself to eat until you feel the least bit stuffed. With the few rules given today you can successfully reduce without counting calories.

However, if you like to keep track of the number of calories in your daily food intake, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36, "Calorie Chart," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Too Much Refined Food Will Lead to Constipation."

If you can't hang your clothes out-of-doors for a periodic airing set your fan in the closet doorway It will draw fresh air in, and force stale air out.

Employment Aid Is Centered In State

BATON ROUGE Sept. 6 (Special)—Louisiana will have complete jurisdiction in the administration of the new veterans unemployment insurance program as it relates to post-Korea servicemen in this State.

This was disclosed today by Administrator J. Hadley Heard of the State Employment Security Agency, who said the new veterans law, effective October 15, will be administered by Louisiana under an agreement with the United Department of Labor.

Heard said details for the administration of the veterans unemployment insurance program were worked out in Washington at conferences between federal officials and a policy committee of the Interstate Conference of Employment Security Agencies in which Louisiana is represented.

The new Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act applies to any veteran with a discharge other than dishonorable who had some service with the armed forces after June 26, 1950; who was either (a) in service for at least 90 consecutive days altogether, or (b) was released because of a service-incurred disability or injury; and whose mustering-out pay period has expired.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's A Play Every Player Should Know

Written for NEA Service

If I ever write a book called: "What Every Bridge Player Should Know," I will surely include the correct play by East at the first trick in today's hand. When this hand was actually played, East hadn't read my book and therefore came up with the wrong answer.

West opened the six of spades, and East won with the ace. He didn't see anything wrong with this play, since he had been taught "third hand high," at his mother's knee.

Opening lead—♠ 6

East continued with the queen of spades, and South held off. South won the third spade and promptly went after the clubs. East could take the king of clubs, but there the defense unwillingly rested. East could not lead another spade, and South easily won the rest.

As everybody has noticed by now, I hope, the correct play by East at trick one is the queen of spades. If East makes this play naturally and automatically, South will be compelled to take his king immediately.

If he fails to do so, he runs the risk of winning no spade contract at all. For all he can tell, West has the ace of spades, and this is his only chance to stop the suit.

After South wins the first spade trick, he cannot make his contract. He needs at least two club tricks and he will therefore quite naturally try the club finesse. East will thereupon take his king of clubs, lay down the ace of spades, and lead a third spade, permitting West to take the rest of the suit.

The whole point is that East loses nothing by playing the queen of spades at the first contract. If West has the king of spades, East's queen will win the first trick. If South has the king of spades, he is bound to win a trick with it sooner or later, and the defense should make every effort to force South to win the trick sooner rather than later.

Card Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

1 Heart Pass 2 Diamonds Pass
2 Hearts Pass ?

You, South, hold: Spades 7-6-2, Heart 7, Diamonds A-K-J-9-4, Clubs A-J-10-5. What do you do?

A—Bid three clubs. This bid at the level of three by the responding hand is forcing. If partner can take care of spades he may be able to try for game in no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 7-6-2, Hearts 7-5, Diamonds A-K-J-9-4, Clubs A-J-10. What do you do?

STEVE CANYON
MILTON CANIFF
TERN! CANYON AND MISS MIZZOU ARE OUTSIDE!.. DO YOU SUPPOSE SHE HAS THE STOLEN DIAMONDS ON HER, AND THEY'RE GOING TO RUN AWAY AND LEAVE US HERE?
LOOK, HIMMERSKORN, I DON'T CARE WHETHER MISS MIZZOU IS CROOKED, OR IF THEY DITCH US OR NOT!..LET ME SLEEP SO I CAN DREAM THAT CERTAIN PASSENGERS I'VE CARRIED ARE BAILING OUT OF MY AIRPLANE — WITHOUT PARACHUTES!
CANYON, IS IT TRUE THAT YOU'RE NOT MARRIED?
YES, IT'S TRUE! — WHY?
MAN, YOU REALLY ACT MARRIED! I'M A GAL WHO'S USED TO BEING WHISTLED AT — AND I MISS IT!
ON THE OTHER HAND, PERHAPS YOU DON'T SEEM SO MARRIED... IT'S THE HITCHED TYPES WHO USUALLY DO THE WHISTLING... MAYBE YOU'RE JUST IN LOVE!
I WAS GOING TO THE STATES TO BE MARRIED WHEN WE CRASHED...
WELL, NOW, YOU WOULDN'T WANT TO GET OUT OF THE MOOD! WHY DON'T YOU MAKE A LITTLE AMOUR TO MISS MIZZOU — JUST TO KEEP IN PRACTICE?
YOU'RE A PRETTY THING, BUT IT DOESN'T SEEM QUITE FAIR TO MY GIRL TO CUT UP WITH YOU, WHILE PRACTICALLY ON MY WAY TO THE CHURCH!
STOP THE PRESSES! ICE AGE MAN FOUND IN UNIFORM OF AIR FORCE!... I DON'T BELIEVE IT! WHAT IS THIS? AM I SLIPPING?
YOU MEAN YOU WON'T EVEN KISS ME — JUST ONCE?
LOOK, MISS MIZZOU, I'M BEING REALISTIC! WHO COULD STOP WITH ONE KISS, ANY MORE THAN WITH ONE SALTED PEANUT?
LET'S FIND OUT! PASS THE BOWL, BIG BOY!
I DON'T WANT TO HURT YOUR FEELINGS, MISS MIZZOU, BUT---
HEY, CUTESIE! WHEN YOU READY TO STOP PLAYEENG GAMES WEETH A REEBBON CLERK, BONBON WEELL TAKE OVAIR AN' GEEVE YOU KEESS THAT WEELL CURL YOUR HAIR FIVE WAYS FROM THE PART!!

SMILIN' JACK
DOWNWIND! FAT STUFF! IT'S GREAT TO SEE MY OL' PALS AGAIN ... AND DO I NEED A FRIEND!
WHEN WE READ IN TH' PAPERS ABOUT SABLE AND YOUR KIDS DISAPPEARING, WE HOPPED TH' FIRST AIRLINER!
... I MUST FIND SABLE AND PROVE THAT IT WAS AN INNOCENT ACCIDENT THAT I GOT MAROONED WITH PANDORA!
... TH' POLICE AND TH' BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS HAVEN'T FOUND ONE CLUE AS TO HOW OR WHERE SHE WENT!
MEANWHILE
NIDNEY SESBITT! WHY ARE YOU TAKING ME TO THE HEAD-WATERS?
YOU'LL SOON SEE, PANDORA, MUCH TO YOUR REGRET!
WHEN I RETURNED FROM MY SKETCHING AND CAMPING WEEK IN THE 'GLADES ...
... TH' WHOLE TOWN WAS TALKIN' ABOUT YOU WRECKIN' JACK'S HOME!
BUT— NIDNEY, DEAR, IT'S ALL GOSSIP! I WAS ACCIDENTALLY MAROONED WITH JACK!
..HIS BOAT MUST NOT HAVE BEEN SECURELY TIED WHEN HE WAS TRYING TO FIX MY ENGINE--
..BECAUSE HIS BOAT BECAME UNTIED AND DRIFTED AWAY!
PANDORA, WHEN I WAS RETURNING FROM MY TRIP I SAW AN OUTBOARD BOAT CAUGHT IN SOME MANGROVE ROOTS ...
... NEAR TH' INLET TO THIS LITTLE HEADWATER LAKE THAT'S FULL OF FLOATING ISLANDS!
..I WAS GOING TO REPORT IT IN TOWN BUT AFTER HEARIN' ABOUT YOUR EPISODE..
I THOUGHT I'D LET YOU IDENTIFY THE BOAT, FIRST!
WHY... WHY... ER... THAT IS JACK'S BOAT! TH' WIND MUST HAVE BLOWN IT INTO THIS LITTLE LAKE!
PROBABLY. BUT DON'T YOU SEE SOMETHING UNUSUAL!
NO! WHAT ARE YOU DRIVING AT?
WHEN IT DAWNS ON YOU, YOU'LL KNOW I'VE LEARNED THE TRUTH ABOUT YOU, PANDORA!

The PHANTOM
By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY
I CAN SHOOT AS WELL AS MY BROTHER. WHY SHOULDN'T I TRY TO SAVE THAT MISSIONARY? IF WE WAIT UNTIL BROTHER'S WELL, IT'LL BE TOO LATE.
OUR PHANTOM READS THE STORY OF JULIE, HIS GREAT-GREAT AUNT-- --AND TWIN SISTER OF THE PHANTOM OF HER TIME-- WELL! I'LL BET IN ALL THE YEARS BEFORE ME, THERE'S NEVER BEEN A FEMALE PHANTOM!
"SHE MADE HERSELF A COSTUME, JUST LIKE THE NEVER-CHANGING COSTUME OF THE MALE PHANTOMS"
THEN, THIS IS THE VERY COSTUME JULIE MADE AND WORE A HUNDRED YEARS AGO! WHAT HAPPENED NEXT?
SHE WAITED UNTIL DARK. SHE DIDN'T WANT HER WOUNDED BROTHER TO STOP HER--
NO ONE'S SEEN ME LEAVE! IF ONLY I CAN PERFORM THIS TASK! BROTHER'LL BE SO PROUD OF ME--
WILSON McCOY 9-7
THAT POOR YOUNG MISSIONARY-- STILL TIED TO THE MAST
"SHE SCOUTED THE PIRATE RIVER BOAT, AND HID UNTIL NIGHTFALL--"
TRYIN' TO BREAK UP OUR RACKET, HUH? SEE HOW FAR YOU GET! TONIGHT YOU'RE FINISHED.
NIGHT, AND THE PIRATES TAUNT THEIR CAPTIVE BEFORE KILLING HIM--
MEANWHILE, JULIE SWIMS SILENTLY TO THE PIRATE BOAT-- CONT'D.

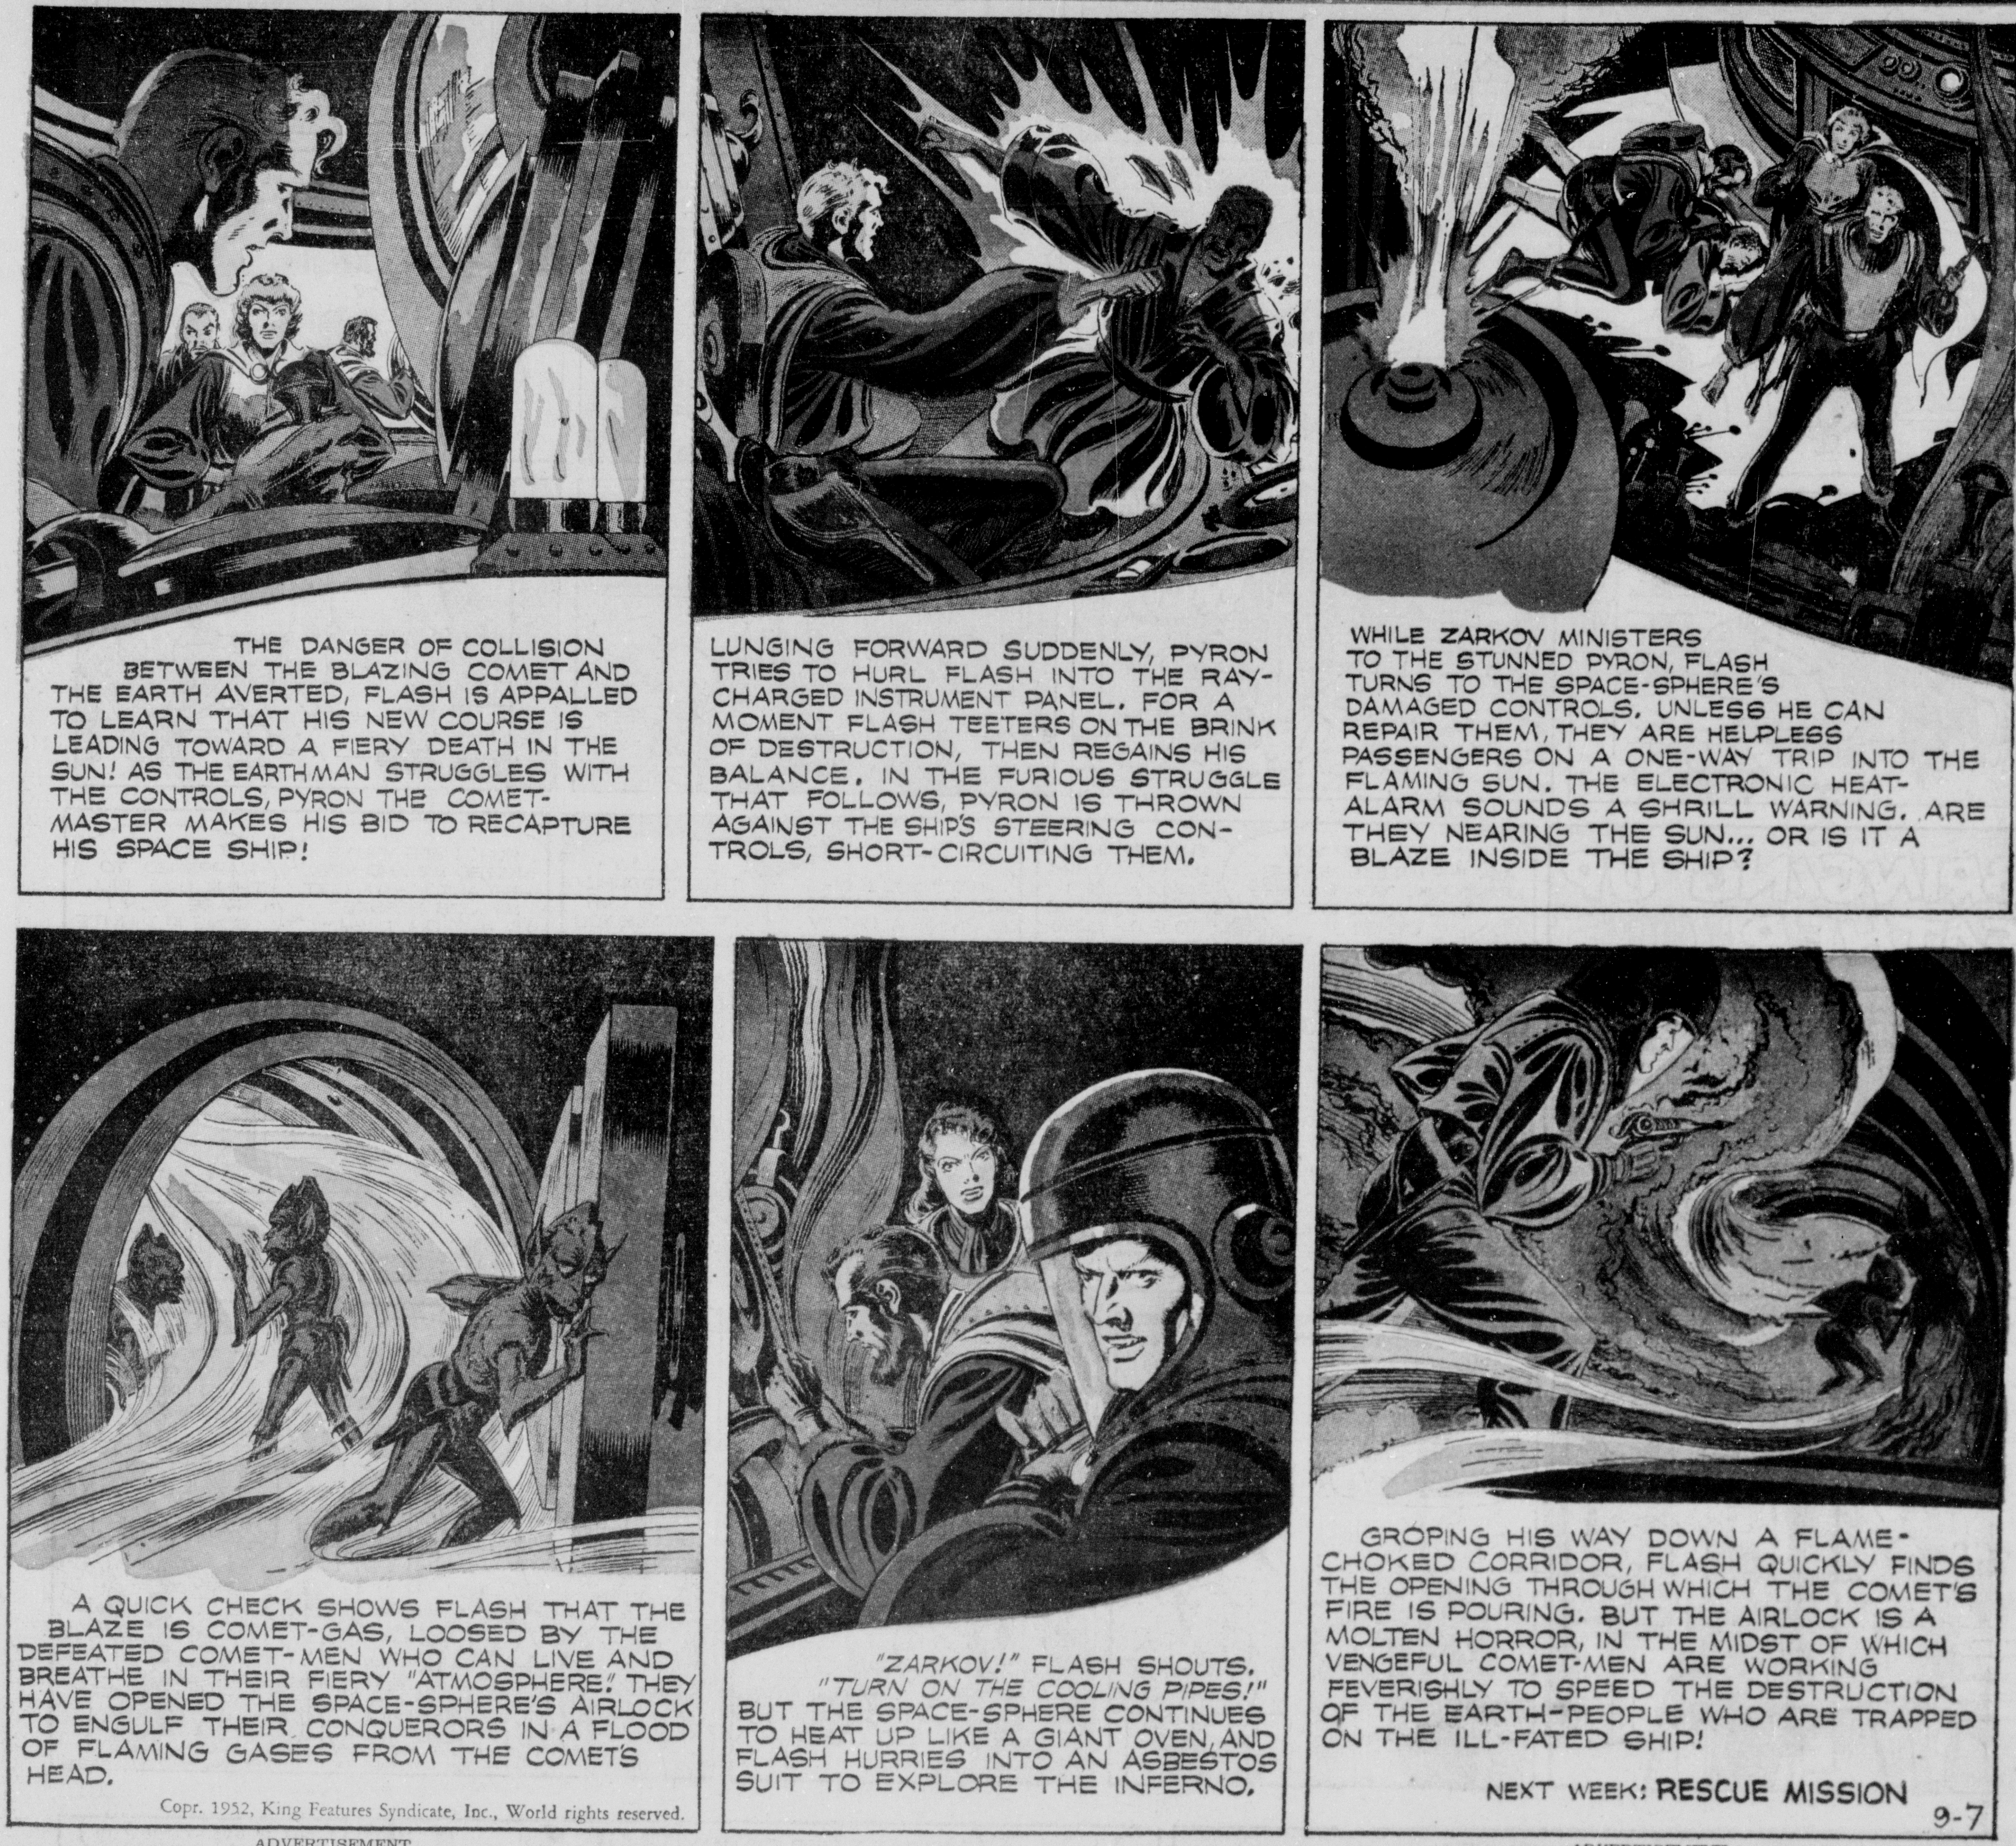
FLASH GORDON by Mac Raboy and Don Moore



THE DANGER OF COLLISION BETWEEN THE BLAZING COMET AND THE EARTH AVERTED, FLASH IS APPALLED TO LEARN THAT HIS NEW COURSE IS LEADING TOWARD A FIERY DEATH IN THE SUN! AS THE EARTHMAN STRUGGLES WITH THE CONTROLS, PYRON THE COMET-MASTER MAKES HIS BID TO RECAPTURE HIS SPACE SHIP!
LUNGING FORWARD SUDDENLY, PYRON TRIES TO HURL FLASH INTO THE RAY-CHARGED INSTRUMENT PANEL. FOR A MOMENT FLASH TEETERS ON THE BRINK OF DESTRUCTION, THEN REGAINS HIS BALANCE. IN THE FURIOUS STRUGGLE THAT FOLLOWS, PYRON IS THROWN AGAINST THE SHIP'S STEERING CONTROLS, SHORT-CIRCUITING THEM.
WHILE ZARKOV MINISTERS TO THE STUNNED PYRON, FLASH TURNS TO THE SPACE-SPHERE'S DAMAGED CONTROLS. UNLESS HE CAN REPAIR THEM, THEY ARE HELPLESS PASSENGERS ON A ONE-WAY TRIP INTO THE FLAMING SUN. THE ELECTRONIC HEAT-ALARM SOUNDS A SHRILL WARNING. ARE THEY NEARING THE SUN... OR IS IT A BLAZE INSIDE THE SHIP?
A QUICK CHECK SHOWS FLASH THAT THE BLAZE IS COMET-GAS, LOOSED BY THE DEFEATED COMET-MEN WHO CAN LIVE AND BREATHE IN THEIR FIERY "ATMOSPHERE." THEY HAVE OPENED THE SPACE-SPHERE'S AIRLOCK TO ENGULF THEIR CONQUERORS IN A FLOOD OF FLAMING GASES FROM THE COMET'S HEAD.
"ZARKOV!" FLASH SHOUTS. "TURN ON THE COOLING PIPES!" BUT THE SPACE-SPHERE CONTINUES TO HEAT UP LIKE A GIANT OVEN, AND FLASH HURRIES INTO AN ASBESTOS SUIT TO EXPLORE THE INFERNO.
GROPING HIS WAY DOWN A FLAME-CHOKED CORRIDOR, FLASH QUICKLY FINDS THE OPENING THROUGH WHICH THE COMET'S FIRE IS POURING. BUT THE AIRLOCK IS A MOLTEN HORROR, IN THE MIDST OF WHICH VENGEFUL COMET-MEN ARE WORKING FEVERISHLY TO SPEED THE DESTRUCTION OF THE EARTH-PEOPLE WHO ARE TRAPPED ON THE ILL-FATED SHIP!
